Borough, Township (and Taxpayers) Eye Major Capital Outlays

The dishwasher might last six more months if we buy some new parts . . . paint's peeling off the window-trim but we can wait another couple of years on that . . . by 1975, we'd like to put in central air-conditioning . . . but this car's got to be replaced right now!

Like a prudent householder, a prudent municipality plans ahead on the big things, hoping to avoid the kind of crisis budgeting that must be done if the car breaks down altogether — or a million-dollar incinerator suddenly has to be junked.

Each year, by May 1, New Jersey's towns are supposed to file a capital budget with the state. It lists all the big capital expenses like building parking garages, fixing incinerators, enlarging sewers.

Nothing in the law says you must do all the things you list, and some towns cop out all together by passing resolutions saying they haven't got any expensive capital needs.

Princeton, however, is Princeton, and each year both Borough and Township dutifully make their capital lists and pass their capital budgets.

But some municipal officials, among them Administrator Joseph R. Nini of the Township, suspect that the state may soon require each town to embark upon a much deeper, broader and more detailed Plan-ahead Plan — a six-year Capital Program.

It would be implemented year by year. Each year's implementation would be the "capital budget" for that year, and another year would be added on to the end, so it would always be a six-year program.

Any Princeton taxpayer could supply the starting list: incinerator, sewer, parking garage, school building expenses . . .

"These are costly things," Mr. Nini points out, and not unnecessarily, because the costs don't hit home until the tax bill comes in the mail. "These are costly things, so you MUST think in advance. You must put a little money aside, and build up reserves so you have enough for the 5% down-payment."

"Now, on a $1-million project, the down-payment is $50,000. Do you want to put all that into a budget? Maybe not. So you sock away $10-15,000 a year, and then, if you have to do something about an incinerator, you haven't strained yourself too much."

Then he adds, with a trace of sadness, "We haven't gone very far on this at the moment . . ."

Last July, the Township wrote to every municipal department in town asking for details on future plans. There was a follow-up in November. At the same time, the Borough made similar requests.

Library: "How soon do you think you'll need to build a third floor? What kind of state and Federal money can you get?

Incinerator: Remodel? Rebuild at $1 million-plus? Go with a Mercer County plan still undeveloped? Mr. Nini believes all three alternatives must be pursued at the same time "so we'll have all the figures we need to help us make a decision." And then he

COMMUTERS, ARISE!

Hearing to Be Held Here. Princeton's commuters, an underprivileged, disadvantaged and exploited lot, are once again up in arms at an old and familiar enemy, the Penn Central.

The railroad, or so some call it, wants a fare increase. Not only that, it wants to cancel commutation tickets on the "dinky" that plies between Princeton and Princeton Junction — the "P. J. & B."

Yielding to the request of Borough Councilman Charles Cornforth in Newark on Tuesday, the New Jersey Department of Transportation has agreed to hold hearings in Princeton on the railroad's proposal Wednesday, May 5, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Cornforth hopes for a large meeting hall such as the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Hearings will also be held this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the County Administration Building, New Brunswick, and next Monday in Red Bank.

Rate Increase 33⅓. Township Committee on Monday night unanimously passed a resolution presented — with almost tearful eloquence — by Committeeman Dean Chace. Like Councilman Cornforth, he is a Penn Central commuter.

"Grave concern" are the words Mr. Chace used. He told Committee that the rate increase would mean a jump of $172.20 a year for travelers between Princeton Junction and New York — an unprecedented 33⅓.

By cancelling the dinky's commutation, the Penn Central would collect $14.70 more each month for the Princeton-Princeton Junction run, for a total of $71.40 to New York instead of the present $56.70.

"Commuters will drive to the Junction," declared Mr. Cornforth flatly. He had crossed the frontier from Borough into Township to appear before Committee, and before the evening was over, he had been delegated to speak for both Borough and Township at state transportation hearings.

He had already been to Trenton for a conference with Nelson Slater, assistant commissioner for public transportation.

"I am not discouraged," Mr. Cornforth said. "Mr. Slater is a reasonable man."

No More P.J.&B.? The abolition of commutation fares on the dinky is "the first step toward abolition of the shuttle line," Mr. Cornforth warned, and Mr. Chace nodded agreement.

The P.J.&B. used to carry coal to the University's power station, Mr. Cornforth said, but the University doesn't use coal any more so this source of freight revenue has been cut off.

Mr. Chace told Committee that Penn Central's proposal to restrict tickets to calendar months is "a hardship." He painted a chill picture of lines of first-of-the-month ticket-buyers "one block long!" waiting outside on winter mornings to buy their monthly tickets.

But not only the commuter is affected, Mr. Cornforth said. He added ecology groups (all those additional cars driving to the Junction!); Princeton University (at present students can get all the way to the University by train) and wives (who will now have to make the round trip drive to the Junction.).

Committeeman Thomas Hartmann chimed in with West Windsor and Plainsboro. He reminded Committee and Mr. Cornforth of the projected future growth of both municipalities and said they would need the P. J. & B.

"Their residents could use it to come to Princeton and shop," he said. Mr. Cornforth nodded assent and said he would remind the state of Penn Central's role in West Windsor and Plainsboro.

Other Action. In other business, Committee:

- Introduced an ordinance requiring fencing around every Township swimming pool.
- Introduced the ordinance levelling Harrison's speed limit to an even 35 mph (part of Ewing, also). Public hearing on both ordinances Monday, May 3.

- Learned, with a wince, that the Township's estimated tax rate of $7.91 was five cents under the Mercer County certification of $7.96 per $100 of assessed valuation. Of the five point increase, three cents goes to schools, two cents to the county itself.

(In the Borough, things were brighter: the estimated $7.86 was reduced to a county-certified $7.75.)

- Received the county's directive that, starting in 1972 assessments must be made at 100%, instead of the present 50%. The county gave no reason for the switch.

Assessor Stuart Robson said the Township's actual figure is 42% of true value, and added that the municipality may have to re-evaluate. The last re-evaluation was made in 1966.

- Tabled, once again, the ordinance reducing off-street parking requirements for office buildings.

"What," demanded Arnold Dumey, 641 Mt. Lucas, "does it contribute to the welfare of any Princetonian not in the real-estate business?"

Committeeman John D. Wallace retorted that the benefit to the town consists in "not covering us with a sea of black-top." He counted large office buildings he had surveyed, and declared that many parking spaces were not used. (DRC has 271 spaces, for example, and on two occasions, only 145 and 152 of them were being used, he said)

Harris Barnett, 249 State Road, suggested that builders might be required to set land aside for possible future parking. "It could be kept in green grass until needed," he said.

Committee was so impressed that it tabled the ordinance to think it over.

CAWLEY TO RUN AGAIN

Term Would be Four Years. Robert W. Cawley said this week that he will run for a second term as mayor of the Borough.

A Republican, Mayor Cawley does not yet have two running mates for Borough Council. The deadline is next Thursday, April 29, unless a court decision on re-apportionment postpones the June 8 primary to a later date.

Under a new state law, whoever is elected mayor of the Borough this fall will serve a four-year term instead of the two-year terms that have been the rule until now.

Borough Democrats so far have not chosen a candidate to run against Mr. Cawley. A second meeting for prospective candidates is scheduled for this Sunday.

In the Township, Mayor James A. Floyd has not said whether he will be the Democrats' candidate.

Railroad Crossing?

Penn Central's rate change request has hurt the Princeton community's negotiations on the Faculty Road grade crossing, declared Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week.

He said that he, Township Mayor James A. Floyd and University officials might ask the Penn Central to require a full stop by the "dinky" at the crossing where two girls met their death earlier this spring.

The two mayors, the University and the railroad have been talking about crossing gates, the mayor continued, but "either Penn Central or the University would be foolish to go to that expense if the dinky line is going to be abandoned."

Major Capital Outlays Studied

adds the clincher: ". . . and we hope we agree with the Borough on the route to follow." The incinerator, of course, is a joint operation.

Sewer: The new Stony Brook Regional Group already knows costs: $34 million completed. "They project a bond issue in '76," Mr. Nini says, "so you'd plug in at 1976, knowing you wouldn't have any charges in those intervening years."

Sewers, Part II. What about the Township's own sewer lines? Old as the dinosaurs, some of them, and about as sluggish.

In the regional sewer system, a town's costs will be based on usage. If ground water seeps into those ancient Township sewers, the municipality's costs will be higher than they should be, so it makes sense, officials point out, to spend money on repairing breaks. It will pay to keep on with house-to-house inspections, to make sure nobody sneaks in an illegal sump pump.

"No idea of costs here," Mr. Nini says cheerfully. "We may have to hire a consultant to save us money in the long run. We do know that laying a new parallel line to replace the trunk line through Community Park might cost $100,000 or more.

Schools: What building costs, long-range? The Township and the Borough would not, of course, be the builders. But any building costs will have a whopping impact on taxes, and it would be very useful to incorporate these long range figures into a six year program.

Incidentally, Princeton's regional school system has a lot of borrowing power, but Mr. Nini points out that even if the system had to exceed its own debt limit, the excess wouldn't spill over to affect the debt limit of Borough or Township. Before merger and the creation of a regional system, this could have been the case.

Recreation: This one is easy. The Joint Recreation Commission already had a tidy Master Plan for the development of the land north of Route 206: golf course, pond, picnic area and so on.

It's been phased over several years, with an initial $320,000 Phase I. This might be assigned to 1971, with Phase II for '72, and on down the line.

Parking Garage: When? "The Borough doesn't have the borrowing power," explains Administrator Robert F. Mooney. "We've had garages in our capital budget for four or five years at $880,000 . . ."

In its capital budgeting each spring, the Borough looks ahead three to five years. Last year, for example, the municipality estimated $20,000 in road construction projects after 1970 outlay of 25,000. Of the $175,000 in 1970's capital improvement, about $100,000 was accomplished, Mr. Mooney estimates.

Project the Rateables. The kind of in-depth capital programming they talk about in the Township has another side:

"You have to project your rateables ahead, if possible," Mr. Nini explains. "You analyze the percentage of rateable growth over the past ten years. You take into account any zoning changes or whether growth of the business zones are being promoted. This isn't hard in Princeton because Borough and Township are stable communities where you don't get hit by big developments or industry.

"You calculate the proportion of state or Federal aid you're likely to get. Because real capital program must have a project of income, and the municipality's ability to pay."

But what comes first? What projects get prior claim?

"We have no enumerated list of priorities," Mr. Mooney says, "they are subject to change from one day to the next — sometimes depending on the state's requirements."

"Priorities will be the tough job," Mr. Nini concedes. "Everybody wants money! The schools, the conservation groups want open space, the library, more recreation! We can either say 'We can't afford it' or we can give everybody a little bit so that nobody really gets enough."

This idea of planning in depth, in a kind of Program Planning Budgeting Systems concept, familiar to business and industry, is being done now in two New Jersey communities on a pilot basis, Mr. Nini says. He continues:

"To put it bluntly, the state is saying, 'Don't come to us for an extension of credit — you haven't thought enough, and this is why you're in trouble.' I hope that here in the Township, at any rate, we can have the start of such a program by the end of this year."

STUDENTS TEST LAW On Voting Requirements. Five Princeton University students attempted to register as Borough voters on Monday as part of a program designed to challenge New Jersey's residency requirements. The requirements, say the challengers, disenfranchise many students of voting age.

The students, three graduate students and two undergraduates went to Borough Hall. Presenting their University addresses, they told Administrator Robert F. Mooney they wished to register.

"You are not bona fide residents of the Borough," Mr. Mooney said. "You are transients here for educational purposes and I cannot register you, under the law."

The confrontation was amicable and low-key. Mr. Mooney suggested that the five go to Trenton to discuss the question with the Mercer County Board of Elections and gave them directions for reaching the board's offices.

Lawyer Retained. The students have engaged Joel Sterns, lawyer with Sterns and Greenberg, who was once counsel for Governor Richard Hughes. The test cases are being planned under the auspices of the Movement for a New Congress and the student head of the project is Ed Tiryak of the class of 1972 at Princeton.

The M.N.C. group plans tests in Gloucester, Essex and Monmouth counties, where there are several colleges. Mr. Tiryak said on Monday that the clerk in Glassboro, Gloucester County, had registered the students who appeared before him. So far, no tests have yet been planned for Middlesex County, where Rutgers is located.

After they were turned away from Borough Hall on Monday, the five students went to Trenton to the Mercer County Board of Elections, where they were told to supply proof of residency. According to Mr. Tiryak, they were asked questions about financial dependency which counsel has told them are illegal.

The students prepared simple statements declaring their place of residence to be Princeton. Mr. Sterns gave these statements to the election board, whose officials said they would make a decision.

Early Decision Sought. Back in Princeton, the students mailed a certified letter asking for a decision within seven days. If no decision is forthcoming by that time, the letter warns, the students will take their case to court, presumably to Superior Court.

Mr. Tiryak said the Movement for a New Congress is prepared to carry it all the way to the State Supreme Court. The Movement is financing court costs, and Mr. Sterns is contributing his services, Mr. Tiryak said.

He explained that the five student testers were carefully chosen. The Movement for a New Congress selected several who are over 21 years of age, so that the test would not be confused with the 18 year old voting issue. Also, the group wanted students who would be here this coming fall at election time. A woman student was chosen so that draft status would not confuse the issue, and finally, the Movement selected students who lived, not in town, but in graduate dormitories.

The students were Steve Arbogast, Robin Kendrick and Patrick Dobel, all graduate students, and Michael Faigen, class of 1973, and Mr. Tiryak. Mr. Faigen was the only one under 21.

ARSON SUSPECTED

In Davidson Fire. A fire of suspicious origin Sunday morning forced the closing of Davidson's Supermarket, 172 Nassau Street. An employee of the store said Tuesday that it hoped to reopen in "two to three weeks."

No one was injured in the blaze which was discovered at 8:34 by Pvt. Thomas Michaud who was patroling in the area. He entered the three-story building to arouse some 16 to 18 residents in 12 apartments above the store, 10 of which were occupied at the time.

Police said that the fire may have been set as a cover up to an unsuccessful attempt to open the store safe located in a front office. Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan said that the safe's handle had been bent and there were marks on the safe.

Apparently in their frustration, the thieves threw purple marking ink over the safe and an office calculator. A lower drawer in a cash register was empty but the thieves ignored an upper drawer full of change. "Apparently they were looking for bigger stuff," police said.

Fire in Two Locations. Chief McCrohan termed the fire "very suspicious. Fires usually don't break out in two places" he commented. The following day, County Fire Marshall John Dempster, conducting his own investigation, acknowledged there had been two fires. One was started half way down the left wall on the first floor; the second in the basement.

Damage from fire, smoke and water was heaviest in the basement, which was described as a "mess." On the first floor, soot damage. A mechanical [illegible] a portion of the wall left between the cellar and first floor where the fire was believed to have started was badly scorched. One section of the staircase entirely burned and there was smoke and ly was the standup meat lockers in the rear of the store. What can be salvaged in the rest of the store lies in the hands of the Borough Board of Health.

A complete, store wide inventory was finished Monday night, according to Louis Funk, store manager. Twenty seven persons are employed by the store.

No Fire Sale Planned. Because the Board of Health has refused the store permission to discard anything until it makes its determination, ice cream containers still sit in rows in the darkened freezer that runs down the middle of the store—their contents all liquified. Andrew O'Hara, Borough sanitation inspector, said that the store had received numerous calls asking when there would be a fire sale, but the callers were told there would be no such sale.

There has been no estimate of the amount of damage. "Everyone has his own figures," said one. "The building owner has his, the insurance agents their's and store officials another." The building is owned by Leonard LaPlaca of 25 Vandeventer Avenue.

Field Fire, Too. Shortly after the Davidson fire was declared out at 12:30, firemen were called out again at 1:54 for a field fire off Cherry Valley Road.

About four acres south of Cherry Valley and west of The Great Road were burned. At times, high winds threatened to spread the flames to several houses on Drake's Corner Road, but firemen were able to bring it under control.

FAULTY SOLUTION FATAL To Princeton Resident. A contaminated intravenous solution caused the death of Seymour C. Schuman, 360 Jefferson Road, on March 18, according to his death certificate signed by Dr. Marvin R. Blumenthal.

Dr. Blumenthal has listed the immediate cause of death as "septicemia due to contaminated IV (intravenous) solution." Mr. Schuman was in Princeton Hospital at the time after suffering from a heart attack.

The 54 year-old chemical engineer had been receiving the IV product of Abbott Laboratories until the Hospital was notified by the State Department of Health by telegram on Tuesday, March 16.

The State Health Department had received the first special precaution advisory on Saturday, March 13. It was followed by a telephone communication with further information from the Public Health Service. Its center for Disease Control at that time had found 150 cases of blood poisoning associated with the use of Abbott IV products in eight hospitals.

The hospital acted immediately upon the first information, stopping the use of Abbott products "within 12 hours" according to a hospital spokesman. It was necessary to airlift some of the IV solutions, which are of life and death importance to some patients, from another manufacturer, he added.

Mr. Schumann died two days after the hospital halted use of the Abbott IV solution. Dr. Martin Goldfield of the State Department of Health says it is "likely" that one or two other deaths elsewhere were caused by the use of the fluids.

Orders for the Day

Send a kite
Up to the sky
To watch the spring
Go sailing by.

Spring has been on the calendar for more than a month, but is really just beginning to become fully noticeable around these parts. It took a couple of days with temperatures in the high 60s to bring out the early flowers and flowering shrubs, but who has had to mow his lawn so far?

Badly-needed showers were a feature of the Man's mid-week forecast, with cooler weather following Thursday. The weekend, however, looks about right: seasonably mild and generally fair.

At least nine deaths connected to the use of these IV feedings were reported by the center for Disease Control when the Food and Drug Administration recommended recall of the products on March 22. It listed a later total of 350 cases of blood poisoning associated with IV therapy discovered in 21 hospitals.

MAY EXTEND HOLIDAY School Board to Consider. Will the schools close Friday, May 28, in a "snow day" to provide a four-day weekend?

The possibility was raised at the school board's agenda meeting Tuesday and will receive a full report next Tuesday when the board holds its regular meeting at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

Board member Winthrop Pike said he rather liked the idea of the extra free day and the four-day weekend. Board president Robert Bierman opted for keeping school in session that Friday. Superintendent Philip E. McPherson promised a report, especially PHS principal Florence Burke. The original idea came from the PHS Student Council.

So far there is no report on the so-called Arbegast-Soda experimental school at Princeton High School. Miss Burke indicated that something may be ready by Tuesday's meeting.

Eugene Biringer, associate superintendent, reported that staff reductions have been made in the amount of $151,000. He had estimated $148,000. The reductions do not constitute a savings, he explained, because the money had already been cut from the budget.

Two Year Contracts? Discussions were held on several broad proposals sturting with the concept of a mythical two-year "contract," a kind of gentlemen's agreement for new teachers which would give them more time to work out problems than the present one year contracts can provide. Mr. Biringer explained that it's difficult to complete the evaluation of a first-year teacher by the December deadline.

"We're not satisfied," he mused. "We need to improve the work we're doing with these young teachers."

Dr. McPherson and Dr. Constance Vieland outlined a Staff Development Planning project, whose $25-50,000 cost would, they hope, be underwritten by the U.S. Office of Education's experimental schools program. Money would pay for what the superintendent called "high-powered consultants." Dr. McPherson said he was also sounding out foundations for money.

The project, which has developed from teacher negotiation talks, would be concerned with in-service staff development, salary structure and such ideas as "differentiated staffing."

The superintendent also proposed a summer study of governance and decision-making in the system. It would be financed with summer workshop funds.

The board is expected to act next Tuesday on a request from the Instructional Council to liberalize the requirements for salary increases. Mr. Pike said he'd recommend following whatever the superintendent recommended.

The board is also studying the possibility of full-time substitutes, replacing the current policy of last minute substitutes.

Mayor Cawley to Seek "The Other Viewpoint"

"The deeper I dig into what I regard as the lack of community spirit, the more I am concerned," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week as he announced his decision to run for a second term.

Next month, he will again be the host in his Westcott Road home at an informal Saturday morning gathering of 16-18 Borough residents, invited at random from each voting district. So far, Mayor Cawley has held two of these get-togethers, one in March and one in April.

"Elements in this community simply aren't talking to each other. I decided that if people can just get together and talk, maybe we can have more understanding. And may be people will see that problems don't have simple solutions," he said.

Mayor Cawley plans his guest-list for the broadest possible Borough representation. People are invited from each district. There are the elderly and the teens; some black, some white; some Protestants, some Catholics.

"I let the guests set the agenda, and I encourage them to do the talking," the mayor explained.

The generation gap is the most frequent and most emotional issue, the mayor reports. Oother subjects are raised — parking, housing, consolidation, various neighborhood concerns — but the conversations always gravitate back to youth.

"The young people who come seem to enjoy themselves, and I certainly enjoy them," the Mayor said. "They're a pretty articulate group, and none of them is ever abashed by his elders — they speak right up."

Some concrete suggestions have been made in these Saturday meetings. One visitor proposed that the Borough Housing Authority take over multi housing in areas where there seem to be landlord problems. If the Princeton Nursery School moves from its Leigh Avenue home, that building might be acquired by the Housing Authority also, it was suggested. (Mayor Cawley added that the Nursery School was not about to move in the near future, but the proposal was an interesting one.)

"You get to like all the people who come, at least I do," the mayor smiles, "and you hope, yourself, that people will see someone else's point of view. It's been very rewarding."

FISHERMAN DROWNS

In Lake Carnegie. The body of a Trenton man who fell off a viaduct while fishing in Carnegie Lake Saturday was recovered Sunday afternoon by Sgt. Ross Bayer, a scuba diver for the State Police Underwater Recovery Unit.

The victim, Boyd Rowell, 53, was found in the spillway connecting the Millstone River with the upper end of the lake — about 200 feet from where he fell in. Other fishermen report seeing him standing on a concrete ledge while fishing from a viaduct over Aqueduct Road when a gust of wind caused him to lose his balance.

They told police they saw him fall in the water and begin calling for help but they were unable to come to his aid. Mr. Rowell's body was identified by his brother Herbert, 49, of Trenton. An autopsy was performed at Princeton Hospital by the Middlesex County medical examiner.

A native of Marion, S.C., Mr. Rowell had worked for 25 years as a welder for the Public Service Co. In addition to his brother, he is survived by his wife, Justine, 50, and a daughter, Mrs. Lilhan Stephens of Falls Township.

THREE HOMES ENTERED

In Township's Eastern Section. Three homes in Princeton Township were broken into last week, all apparently on Thursday.

Hardest hit was the home of Dominic Giancola of 360 Riverside Drive. After prying open a rear door with a screwdriver, the intruders ransacked a master bedroom, taking about $140 in cash and two rings valued at $1700. One was a diamond and emerald ring valued at $1250.

The theft was discovered by the Giancolas when they returned home at 9:28 Thursday evening. They placed the theft between then and 1:30 p.m. Mr. Giancola is president of Princeton Organics.

An entry between 6 and 10:30 p.m. the same night at 50 Wittmer Court was reported by Ivan Monk, vice president of DeLaval Steam Turbine in Trenton.

Police said that entry was gained by prying an upstairs rear window. Nothing was taken and police commented that possibly the intruders were frightened off by the return of the owners. The house was partially ransacked.

A search of the house and grounds by police revealed nothing.

Thieves also left empty-handed after entering the home of Philip E. McPherson, 67 Longview Drive. Dr. McPherson is superintendent of the Princeton Regional School system.

The entry was discovered by James Bruce, 77 Longview, at 10:15 Friday morning when he went to feed the McPherson's cat. He discovered the front door pried open and two rear doors open.

Dr. McPherson called Township police later to report that he found nothing missing. Police placed the theft between 5 Thursday afternoon and the next morning.

Raincoat Shoplifted. The shoplifting of a $65 tan raincoat was reported last week by Eric Mihan Jr. of the English Shop.

He told police that three men visited the 32 Nassau Street store at 5:40 Thursday afternoon. One hid the raincoat under his topcoat, police said.

FOUR ARE INJURED

In Bridge Collision. Three teenagers and a 35 year old Englishtown driver required sutures at Princeton Hospital following the collision of two small foreign cars early Saturday morning at the Stony Brook Bridge near Quaker Road.

James A. Haughie, 35, required 50 sutures for chest contusions and abrasions of the knee. He also sustained a compounded fracture of the frontal bone. He was taken to the hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The driver of the second car, Kathryn J. Jansen, 19, of Runnemede, received two sutures to close a laceration of her knee. Two passengers of her's were taken to the hospital by a Borough patrol car. Debbie Slotzky, 18, of Trenton, received seven sutures for a nose laceration and Esther Kamelgean, 17, of Paterson, six, for a scalp cut.

Township patrolman Mario Mosso ticketed Mr. Haughie for careless driving. Miss Jansen told him she suddenly saw the Haughie car in her lane on the bridge and could not avoid an accident. The mishap occurred at 1:17 a.m.

Man Dies At Wheel. A 1970 car crashed into a house at 196 State Road last week when the driver suffered a heart attack.

Howard B. Poorman, 52, of Montclair, was pronounced dead at Princeton Hospital by Dr. Thomas Cortelyou. An autopsy performed by Dr. David Fluck listed the cause of death as coronary thrombosis. "He was dead when I got there," commented the investigating officer, Ptl. Frank Boccanfuso.

Mr. Poorman's car started to leave the road at 4:32 p.m. last Wednesday in front of 204 State Road. It went through a split rail fence, skidded 60 feet across the front lawn of 196 owned by P.S. Mitchell and came to rest embedded in the southeast corner of the house.

Elderley Woman Injured. A 71 year-old Long Island woman was injured last week as she alighted from a car on Nassau Street near Witherspoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tnuser of Huntington was reaching in the rear seat of a car operated by her daughter, Mrs. Susanne Nielsen, 50, of Hollywood, Md. to get her suitcase when the car suddenly shot backward into a car behind it. Mrs. Tunger was knocked to the pavement by the cars open door and had her leg pinned beneath one of the front wheels. Three men lifted the car to free her.

She was treated at the scene in front of Zinder's by Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman. Later, she was taken by ambulance to Princeton Hospital where she was further treated for bruises, abrasions and contusions of the leg, back and arm and released.

Mrs. Nielsen was charged with careless driving by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt. She told police that she believed she had placed her shift lever in "Park" after stopping but while helping her mother exit, her feet where in the area of the gas pedal.

When her car shot backward, it rammed the front of a car driven by Dolores S. Allaire of Caldwell Drive.

ABERNATHY HERE Leads Protest March. The Rev. Dr. Ralph Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, came to Princeton Tuesday, leading a rally in front of Nassau Hall, marching to the A&P to protest discrimination in its employment policies and speaking that evening to a crowd of 500 at the First Baptist Church.

Among his comments: "We're spending $60 billion on the space program in the face of all this poverty at home. Then we send Spiro T. Agnew around the world passing out moon rocks when he should be right here in New Jersey passing out bread to hungry children."

At the First Baptist Church, he told his audience:

"I am not trying to fill the shoes of Martin Luther King—no man, living, dead or unborn can fill those shoes." Then he added, "But I'll be damned if I haven't got some sandals of my own."

He was scheduled to speak at the State House in Trenton Wednesday, and said that he had asked Princeton University to suspend classes so that students might hear him. No such action was taken, but several hundred of them were in the crowd when he addressed the rally from the steps of Nassau Hall.

No Violence. A march down Nassau Street to the Princeton Shopping Center followed. Target of the protesters was the A&P, which has been under fire from Dr. Abernathy and others for failure to hire more blacks.

Inside the supermarket, more than 200 marchers registered their protest by taking items off the shelves, leaving them at the checkout counters and walking out. Dr. Abernathy said that the store's manager had thanked him "because he had anticipated vandalism."

While the rally was in front of the university campus on Nassau Street, one of the two mules which Dr. Abernathy brought to town as part of his protest on nationwide poverty died.

Dr. Abernathy said: "I looked in the horse trailer, and there was 'Spiro Agnew' laid out dead. I got angry at God for a moment.

"I prayed to him: 'Lord, you got it mixed up. You got the wrong mule'."

CRASH KILLS STUDENT In Franklin Township. His automobile spun around in a collision with one car and then struck broadside by another, a 19-year old Princeton freshman died in Princeton Hospital Saturday afternoon three hours after the accident on Route 27.

The victim was Bernard Hellring, Jr., whose home was in South Orange. Roger L. Hudson '74, his roommate who was riding with him, was treated for minor injuries at the hospital and released.

Franklin Township police said that young Hellring was driving north on Route 27 about 2:45 when his car collided with another, operated by Americo D. Carneglia, 19, of Franklin Park. The latter was turning into Route 27 from Pleasant Plains Road when the collision occurred.

Hellring's car was spun around by the impact, and seconds later hit on the driver's side by a car driven by David Welch, 22, also of Franklin Park. Carneglia was also taken to Princeton Hospital for minor injuries, while Welch was released after being treated at St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick.

80 M.P.H. ON NASSAU Fined $50. William Page, 19, of Old Road, was fined $50 in Borough Court Monday for speeding 80 miles an hour April 9 in a 35-mile zone on Nassau Street.

In addition, Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr., suspended Mr. Page's license leaving the duration up to the discretion of the motor vehicle department. He pleaded guilty.

Also fined for speeding were Patricia L. Casserly, 20, 54 Cuyler Road, $18; Romona B. Huff, 41, 25 Race Street, $16; university student James A. Hardie, 19, of Brentwood, Tenn., $16; and William B. Worthington, 23, 101 Winant Road, $26. Richard J. Silvis Jr., 26, 27½ Leigh Avenue, and John O. Pehek, 42, Crusher Road, Hopewell, each paid $12 for stop sign violations.

Paying $15 fines were Geoffry Graham, 18, 96 Main Street, Kingston, fictitious plates; Murray H. Reich, 48, 184 Loomis Court, failure to keep right; and Jean O. Schluter, 17, 292 Russell Road, careless driving.

Robert Ellis, 19, 79 Leavitt Lane, paid $10 for going through a "no thoroughfare" at Princeton High School in violation of a Borough ordinance.

CAR OWNERS VICTIM Of Thieves, Vandals. Owners of cars parked in Princeton last week experienced a rough time at the hands of thieves and vandals.

In the Township, Byron Campbell of 111 Maclean Circle reported the theft of two tires valued at $60 each from a storage area in his garage. He had replaced the stored tires with snow tires, police said.

University student Jeffrey S. Wieler, 19, of Manhasset, N.Y., reported the loss of right front and rear tires from his car parked in a lot on lower University Place, next to the former postal annex building. He valued them at $90. An attempt to force open the car's trunk failed, police said.

Phillip Gaskill of Trenton, attending a dog training course at Community Park School last week, had four Super Sport hubcaps removed from his car while it was in the Community Park lot. His loss: $75.

In the Borough, Dianne Rider, a student at Westminster Choir College, told police that someone had slit the top of her convertible while it was parked in a school lot. The vandal, police said, had cut wires in an attempt to remove instrument guages from her 1966 car.

An $80 tape deck, four tapes valued at $28 and a $12 tachometer were stolen last week from a car parked in the lot next to the Princeton Playhouse. There was no forced entry, police said, who identified the owner as John Easlick of Riverside.

Two stereo speakers were stolen from a car owned by Christina Ramano of Riverside, parked in the Princeton Hospital lot on Franklin Avenue. The theft was reported Thursday.

Tin Is Added To Re-cycling Project

This Saturday's 9 a.m.-til-noon pick-up of items for re-cycling will include tin for the first time. The depot is the student parking lot off Faculty Road.

The volume of material collected is so huge that the Conservation Coalition asks sympathetic compliance with the following instructions:

Newspapers (no magazines) tied in neat bundles.

Glass — clean, separated by color, labels may be left on, but remove metal lids or rings.

Aluminum — all-aluminum food and drink containers rinsed clean. Cans have no side seams and should be crushed.

Tin & Bi-metal: rinse containers clean, separate from each other and from other materials. Remove labels, tops, bottoms of cans and flatten. The processor will refuse all cans with labels on and those that are dirty, so the Coalition must follow the same policy.

The re-cycling pick up will be held rain or shine. Decals and stencils with the Conservation Coalition symbol are available to buy at 25c and 50c. The next pick-up will be on Saturday, May 22.

AMEND ORDINANCE?

Police Measure Might Be Softened. The Borough's controversial police assistance-interference ordinance, whose repeal was introduced last week, might be amended to ease some of the objections, Mayor Robert W. Cawley suggested this week.

He said that opponents of the ordinance, especially those who regard it as too vague, might be willing to propose amendments. Certain kinds of activities, for example, might be excluded from the ordinance's provisions, the mayor said. He did not elaborate.

He added that he may confer personally with opponents of the measure, soliciting their advice.

"The real problem is polarization," he stated. "On one side, people who are fearful of what the police might do under such an ordinance, and on the other, people who want the police to have more power."

Public hearing on repeal of the ordinance will be Tuesday, May 11. "I hope that occasion can bring about a meeting of minds," Mayor Cawley said.

NO SEWER ACTION YET

In Township. The Township still fully supports a Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, but wants to explore finances in greater depth before passing the required ordinance, revealed Mayor James A. Floyd at his monthly press conference Tuesday.

The Borough introduced its ordinance last week. Mayor Floyd said that Township auditor Frank Van Gelder had been sitting in on the discussions and has been "most helpful to us." Township committee has also talked about regional sewer financing with Borough Council. The Township's ordinance may be introduced May 3.

"There are details to work out, but the important thing is to get started," the mayor added.

The Township's Conservation Commission, in a detailed letter to Committee expressed its support of the regional sewer concept, but added a few reservations.

The Commission wants the new Authority to allow existing septic tanks to remain in use if they're functioning properly. Ecologically, the Commission declares, they are preferable to sewers because they keep ground water on the site. The Commissinn also asks for ecological studies, and adherence to Federal guidelines.

FOURTH ARMED ROBBERY

In University Dormitory. Borough Detective Timothy Huizing and campus police are continuing their investigation into last Thursday's armed robbery on campus—the fourth in four weeks.

Two robbers armed with a knife and a gun and wearing ski masks knocked on the door of 124 Pyne Hall Thursday evening at 7:55. Jeffrey R. Jones, a visiting high school student, opened the door. After being threatened by the pair, he was bound hand and foot with nylon fishing line.

While the robbery was in process, the room's occupant, Jesse Q. Huang, a university sophomore, entered and he, too, was threatened and bound. The robbers took $35 in cash, a clock radio and other articles valued at $32. Before leaving, they ripped out

The victims managed to wrestle free of their bonds and call police. Neither was injured.

They were described as black (police said the victims were able to glimpse their hands); in their teens, wearing University windbreakers and white sneakers with black stripes. Their ski masks were black with a red border. One was described as six feet tall, the other about 5'8.

The first robbery was on March 20 by two armed youths, also wearing ski masks. The second took place March 29, and on March 30, Richard D. Maddox was robbed of $60 in his room. Borough police arrested two Trenton suspects in the Maddox theft the next day.

BENEFIT ART EXHIBIT SUNDAY: An exhibit of Israeli art will be part of a program Sunday night at the Jewish Center to benefit the United Jewish Appeal. Above are Mrs. Alexander Molnar, exhibit chairman; Jacob Elhinani, an artist from Morocco now studying in New York; and Mrs. Irving Glassman, general chairman. Story, this page.

existence of the State of Israel.

The speaker will be Dr. William Korey, an authority on Soviet Jewish affairs. Formerly a faculty member of Columbia University and other major colleges, Dr. Korey does research on world Jewish problems as the Director of the New York Bureau of the B'nai B'rith International Council. He is also that organization's representative at the United Nations. In these capacities he has been on social survey missions abroad including visits to Turkey and Eastern Europe, as well as to Israel and Western Europe.

The UJA provides health, education and welfare needs in Israel and 30 other countries. The Emergency Fund was launched in June 1967 on behalf of Israel's people and the regular annual campaign finances the vast welfare, medical and immigration programs that are conducted on behalf of 850,000 destitute Jewish men, women and children throughout the world.

The program committee consists of Mrs. Irvin Glassman, chairman; Jack Avins, Irwin Gordon, Mrs. Al Vandor, Molnar, Mrs. Paul Finkelstein, Norman Dunard, Mrs. Donald Jacobson and Mrs. Norman Dunard.

Refreshments will follow the program. All interested members of the community, both Jewish and non-Jewish, are invited. There is no admission charge.

APPLICATIONS DUE

For Pre-Kindergarten Program. Applications for the Pre-Kindergarten program in the Princeton Regional Schools will be accepted this Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. This is a limited enrichment program for children whose fourth birthday is on or before November 30, 1971 and who have some special needs that should receive attention before entering Kindergarten.

Only a limited number of children can be accepted. Priority will be given to those children with no prior nursery school experience and to those who show special needs in terms of their language, physical, social or emotional development.

Parents who believe that they have a child who might qualify are asked to come to the John Witherspoon School between 9 and 12 Tuesday or Wednesday or between 9 and 11 on Thursday to complete an application. The child's birth certificate should be provided.

The application will be reviewed by the pre-kindergarten teachers and the Special Services Child Study Team. Information may also be sought from the child's pediatrician.

Parents will then be given an appointment to have an interview with the teacher while the child is observed in the classroom. Decisions on applicants will be announced in May.

BIRTHS

Heel Dragging Protested.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I intended to make the following statement at the Borough Council meeting (April 13) at the time of the first reading of the sewer Authority ordinance. However, because of an unannounced agenda change, I did not have the opportunity.

I am in favor of a regional sewage treatment system. However, many valid questions have been raised concerning the system proposed. They remain unanswered. Letters written in February '71 to the sewer group and to the State Department of Environmental Protection, have not even been acknowledged. James Sayen of the Township Conservation Commission has sought the answers to no avail.

The procedures for a regional sewer system have been set up. The Federal Guidelines have been issued. The State must meet these guidelines.

The State must develop a basin plan to meet the approval of the Federal Government. The sewer groups are supposed to see to it that the system meets the State and Federal requirements.

The State has not done its job — neither is the sewer group doing its job. Someone must see to it that this job is done right.

The State has not begun the basin plan for this area. Yet the sewer group's consultants continue planning this system without being required to make the studies necessary to answer the basic environmental questions. One of the questions that must be answered is, What will be the short and long range effects of this proposed system on Stony Brook?

I would suggest that you consider not joining the sewer Authority until the Federal Government approves the State basin plan. Otherwise, I see the following development.

The sewer group will make no demands. The consultants will go on planning an unresearched project that will be so developed that it will push its way through, even though it is not adequate — even though it may be obsolete with in a short time. Rules will be bent. Allowances will be made.

Demands will be lessened simply because something is under way. This has proceeded too far without the proper and required studies. I don't see how it is possible for this group (Borough Council) or the sewer group to endorse something simply because it is in motion. It must be stopped and put on the right course. That course has been set.

Every citizen is going to be affected adversely unless it is set right. We must see to it.

Alampi Thanks Citizens.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a retiring member of the Hopewell Valley Regional School Board of Education for the past ten years, six as president, since we regionalized the schools of Hopewell Township, Pennington Borough, and Hopewell Borough, I want to say thank you to all of our citizens.

Together, as members of the school board, faculty and administrative staff, we have appreciated the interest and cooperation of the parents of the young men and women who have attended our schools. The excellent response of the students has been commendable. We also are grateful for the cooperation and support of officials of the local, county, and state governmental agencies. The continued support of our citizens in voting favorably for the school budgets and bond issues has been especially gratifying.

Having served for 10 years as a teacher, coach and athletic official in New Jersey schools, I have had a special and sincere interest in building and maintaining a faculty of high caliber. We have an excellent staff. We also have an outstanding group of students who have been involved in many of our decisions concerning programs and policies. They have made many important contributions.

For years, I have had the firm belief that the membership on the School Board should include a woman and a representative of the black community. When the temporary vacancies occurred, I appointed two well qualified individuals who subsequently were confirmed in the school elections for full terms.

To me this has been a most interesting opportunity and privilege to serve our community. I am most grateful to the residents of Hopewell Township whom I have represented, to my colleagues who have served with me on the Board and to the members of the faculty as well as the administrative staff. To all a sincere Thank You!

We must strive for continued excellence in our educational programs . . . for education is a journey, not a destination. I prayerfully hope that we shall always aim to have the best schools in the State and in the nation. We can do no less for our students who are destined to become our leaders of tomorrow.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Whoever said that there is always something new under the sun must have had Hopewell Township in mind. It provided something new in the form of that letter of thanks to the people of the community from the gentleman who served for many years as the President of the Hopewell Township School Board.

One especially nice thing about it is the fact that it provides an opportunity for someone to return the thanks. I think it should be warm and generous thanks for a long, faithful, intelligent, and constructive term of service.

For many, many years, I had a farm in Hopewell Township; so I take the honor upon myself. On behalf of the community and in the public interest, I say, "Thank you, Phillip Alampi, for a high order of service, above and beyonds the call of duty."

PRINCETON TO JOIN

In New Air Mail Service. Princeton will participate in a new Post Office program to be inaugurated this Thursday, providing next-day service for air mail to cities within a 600-mile radius.

Postmaster John Dilworth said that, under the plan, all zip coded air mail deposited in one of two specially marked boxes by 4 p.m. weekdays will be delivered the next day in most principal and intermediate cities and towns within this radius. It will also reach any principal city in the continental United States within two days of deposit.

The air mail boxes will be located in front of the main Post Office on Palmer Square and the annex on Alexander Road, West Windsor Township. Pick-ups from these boxes will be adjusted to provide prompt dispatch on local area flight

FIGURES LOOK BRIGHTER

In Business Index. Keeping in mind some of the seasonal drop offs that are bound to occur, the TOWN TOPICS quarterly business index has at least a couple of figures to brighten its first quarter picture.

New car sales scored a gain of 14% over the previous quarter, reflecting the generally better times the big three auto makers are having. However, this was still 14% below the corresponding three-month period a year ago, so it may be necessary to wait for the second quarter figures before coming to any conclusion. The figure of 441, reached in October, November and December 1969, was one of the lowest in many years, and not too difficult to surpass.

Loans and mortgages from the town's four financial institutions are up a smart 6% over last quarter and a whopping 19% over last year. Savings show generally the same increases, while checking accounts, as is always the case in the first quarter, are down. They do show a small rise from a year ago, however.

The national outlook for construction, especially new housing, has vastly improved. The figures in the Borough and Township are mixed. Building permits are up over a year ago in both municipalities, but their value is almost unchanged in one and down in the other in the 12-month comparison.

Postal and parking meter receipts have fallen off slightly from pre-Christmas levels, but again both are up over the first quarter figures of 1970, a good sign of continued growth.

Figures released by the Department of Labor and Industry in the state show the rate of unemployment remained stable at a high 7.2% from January to February, making it the highest February rate since 1964, and 1.6% higher than a year ago. Although a modest decline occurred in the Ocean City Wildwood-Cape May area over the month, it still had the highest unemployment rate in the State at 18%, because of the lull in resort activity.

The Trenton area, which includes Princeton, enjoyed the lowest unemployment rate in the state at 5% of the work force. The concentration of government employment, and a fairly diversified industrial base, make for more stable employment in this labor area.

50th PATENT GRANTED

To Junction Resident. Frank J. Fuchs, 9 University Way, Princeton Junction, became one of a small group of inventors with 50 or more patents recently when he was awarded a U.S. patent for a manufacturing device he developed at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center near Princeton.

The device is a collapsible feed mechanism designed to allow a thin metal rod to be subjected to high compressive loads without bending or buckling. Mr. Fuchs holds 49 other patents on various machines, tools and processes and is an internationally recognized authority on the field of high-pressure metal forming.

EXPANDED OFFICE OPEN

By Princeton Bank in Hopewell. Princeton Bank and Trust Company has opened a new and expanded office on East Broad Street in Hopewell Borough, replacing the old building on the same street.

The new Colonial-style one-story building in Hopewell Borough includes the latest in banking equipment and an efficient plan to expedite customer service and transactions. There is plenty of parking space for "walk-in" customers plus a "drive-through" facility.

Princeton Bank acquired all the assets of Hopewell National Bank in 1956 through an exchange of 10,000 shares of Hopewell common stock for an equal number of Princeton Bank shares. Depositors and assets have increased enough to warrant the Princeton Bank opening a Hopewell Township Office at the Pennytown Shopping Center last year and to expand its office in Hopewell Borough.

This office is the sixth full service facility of the bank. A seventh will be opened soon at the Twin Rivers complex just east of Hightstown in East Windsor Township.

SALES MANAGER NAMED

By Mettler Instrument. John Cannon has been named General Sales Manager of Mettler Instrument Corporation, 20 Nassau Street.

Mr. Cannon was formerly Sales Manager, Thermoanalyzers. He joined Mettler in 1961 as a sales representative, and was subsequently named Assistant Sales Manager, Balances.

A graduate of the University of Alabama with a B.S. in Chemistry, Mr. Cannon lives with his wife and three children in Titusville. He is a member of the vestry of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Pennington and Vice-President of the Hopewell Valley Little League.

AGENCY SELECTED

By Project Consultants. Sumner B. Irish, President of Project Consultants, has announced that Lenhart and Company will handle all public relations and advertising for the new firm.

PCI is a Princeton-based firm offering assistance to developing companies in the form of advice and recommendations concerning all aspects of new facilities construction from site selection to community approval.

EGGOMATIC RATES AN "E"

Clean-Up Week Is At Hand!

Brush piles gathering on curb-sides show that most Princetonians already know Clean-up Week is coming. For those who don't:

Township: Clean-up Week will begin this Saturday because that's the date for re-cycling collections of paper, aluminum and glass. Collection point is the University parking area off Faculty Road.

Starting Monday, the Township leaf vacuum machine will collect leaves raked to curbside as follows:

Monday: Election Districts One and Four
Tuesday: Districts Five, six, Ten
Wednesday: Districts Three, Nine
Thursday: Districts Two, Eleven
Friday: Districts: Seven, Eight

Branches and twigs will be collected Thursday and Friday and should be bound with rope or twine in bundles for easy handling into the chipping machine. Other materials should be placed in containers.

Borough: Fire Chief Ralph Kleiber urges householders to clear out old papers, mattresses, furniture and draperies that might be a fire hazard. Garage trash, dead grass and brush fall into this category also, the chief says.

Borough residents must place material in containers, and tie brush in bundles. All items must be no larger than one many can carry.

master plan for upgrading the postal system. He explained that this first goal will apply to nearly 500 towns and cities with airports and flight schedules that make next day and second-day delivery possible.

While the new goal will apply directly to major cities and towns, many smaller communities also will find their air mail service expedited because much of their air mail is channeled through nearby major offices. Mr. Dilworth emphasized the importance of customer cooperation in depositing air mail in these boxes to facilitate its sorting.

DEADLINE APRIL 29

For Primary Registration. The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area has issued a reminder that April 29 is the last day to register or record a change of address in order to vote in the June 8 Primary Elections. Residents must register in person at the office of the County Board of Elections or at the office of the municipal clerk in the municipality in which they reside.

Registration is permanent in New Jersey but a voter must re-register for the following reasons: (1) failed to vote in any election during the last four consecutive years. (2) moved to another county. (3) changed name.

In addition to regular daily hours of 9 to 5, evening hours will be in effect in the following municipalities:

Princeton Borough and Princeton Township — April 28 and 29 from 7 to 9.

Montgomery Township — April 26 through 29 from 6 to 7:30.

To register in West Windsor Township, call Mr. Chamberlin for an appointment at 799-1484. If unable to reach him before the deadline, inquire at the Dutch Neck Municipal Hall at 799-0619.

For further information call your municipal or county clerk or the League of Women Voters at 924-7693.

CONSERVATION PLANNED

In Hopewell This Weekend. Three conservation authorities will speak at an Ecology Rally launching Hopewell Valley's first Conservation Weekend. The evening rally on Friday will feature brief addresses by Malcolm Crooks, Eastern Advisor of the National Association of Conservation Districts; Paul Van Wegen, U. S. Commissioner of the Delaware River Basin Commission; and Ian Walker, Executive Director of hte Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

The program will begin at 8 in the Timberlane Junior High School near Pennington. Special conservation exhibits will be on display before and after the program.

Saturday is billed as "Spring Cleaning Saturday" throughout the Hopewell Valley. Included are a major recycling event as well as roadside and stream cleanup efforts and other special projects by various community youth groups.

Hopewell Central High's Conservation Club, assisted by adult volunteers, will handle the recycling activity. Three delivery locations have been established for Saturday: Hopewell Township's Municipal Building (upper parking lot), Hopewell Central High School's parking lot and Hopewell Elementary School's lot. Hours will be 9 to 2; the rain date is Saturday, May 1.

tails to be collected for recycling include glass aluminum and newspapers. All glass is acceptable. Metal tops and rings should be removed from bottles and jars, but it is not necessary to take off paper labels.

In the aluminum category, only cans are acceptable. These are the lightweight cans without seams.

Newspapers for recycling should be bundled; magazines are unacceptable.

Boy Scout Troops 42 and 71 will participate in a roadside cleanup projects along with 4 H groups. Troops 41 will work at cleaning up a portion of a local stream.

Troop 1776 will assist in special cleanup efforts while on a camping trip in the Stony Brook area. Cub Scouts and Indian Guide groups also have ecology programs underway as part of Ite Conservation Weekend.

Girl Scout and Browne unit participation is scheduled in the form of three projects: establishing bluebird house trails, constructing steps to the skating area of Stony Brook and painting pop art on Runkle Park's lavatories.

The weekend program is sponsored by the Hopewell Township Conservation Commission. All area residents are urged to join in the activities by attending the Ecology Rally, contributing recyclable materials at appropriate collection stations and by cleaning up their own yards and other areas.

FRESHMEN TO TOP 1,000

At Princeton Next Fall. In response to a trustee decision to increase the enrollment of undergraduate women at Princeton University, the Office of Admission has mailed letter to 1,976 applicants, informing them of acceptance in to next fall's freshman class.

Those accepted — 1,456 men and 520 women — were selected from among 8,051 completed applications for admission in Princeton 6,095 from men and 1,956 from women. From those accepted, the University expects to draw about 800 men and 300 women, the first class in its history to top 1,000.

The size of September's entering class will be larger by 100 women than originally planned, as the result of a decision announced by the trustees. It is expected to result in about 730 undergraduate women on the Princeton campus next fall.

At that time, the University will have exceeded its first projected coeducation timetable announced in April 1969, which called for the enrollment of 650 women by 1973-74. The new figures also assure that the enrollment of women by fall 1972 will surpass a revised timetable, announced last fall, which projected an enrollment of 800 by 1973-74. It is now expected that there will be about 1,100 women by 1973-74 and 1,200 by 1974-75.

Statement from Goheen. President Robert F. Goheen cited two developments which made it possible for the Trustees to authorize an increase in the size of next year's freshman class: first, an increase, since the introduction of the draft lottery, in the number of students who elect to take a leave of absence from the University at some time during their undergraduate careers; and second, the continuing trend toward off campus living, including those who marry, those who choose to live in eating clubs, and those who pursue foreign study or field study programs.

President Goheen said that the increase in enrollment in order to accept a larger number of women than previously planned resulted from careful academe and economic analyses, as well as gifts of $10 million from private donors for the first phases of coeducation.

"This small expansion in the undergraduate body," he said, "will enable the University to make fuller use of its resources in faculty and facilities without added budgetary strains."

TO HOLD PEACE FORUM

Rep. Thompson To Speak. Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. will give the opening address at the Peace Action Forum of Princeton Friends Meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. this Sunday in the meeting house on Quaker Road.

Four panel members will present to him concerns discussed at previous peace forums: the Rev. Paul A. Schweitzer, S.J., a mathematician at the Institute for Advanced Study will speak about the Berrigans, repression and the "loving breaking of unjust laws." Harold Taylor, clerk of Stony Brook Meeting, will speak on draft repeal.

Youth alienated by a militaristic government will be discussed by Cynthia Chase, Princeton undergraduate, and Associate Professor Steve Sloby will present facts on Princeton's role in the military industrial complex.

There will be a question and discussion session during the latter part of the meeting. Since the meeting house is small, early attendance is suggested.

SPORTS in Princeton

PHS BACK IN THE RUT Loses to Hamilton, Lawrenceville. The Princeton High School baseball dynasty was shorter than that of the New York Knicks: it lasted one game.

There isn't anything wrong with the Little Tigers that solid pitching won't cure, but they failed to get it in their last two starts. After stunning Ewing last u week, PHS lost, 11-4, to Hamilton on Tuesday and 5-1 to Lawrenceville the day before.

Hamilton (2-3) scored two in the first and two in the third off starter Don Crosby and then put the game out of reach with a five-run fifth. PHS got one back in that round when it sandwiched a walk between singles by Chris Grazel and George Boccan fuso.

In the sixth, the Little Tig ers scored three more. Two came off another Grazel single gie after the Blue and White loaded the bases on two walks and a hit batsman.

PHS was outhit, 8 to 4. Senior Martin Clark pitched two and two-thirds innings in relief of Crosby and Ray Richards hurled the last frame. Both were pitching for the first time for PHS.

Against Lawrenceville, PHS averted a shutout in the final inning when the victors' third baseman committed back-to-back errors, allowing Dave Mansue to score. Lawrenceville got all the runs it needed when it scored twice in the fifth on two singles and a pair of PHS errors.

The losers were limited to four hits — singles by Boccenfuso, Crosby, Kent Bain and Dave Zapiechi. Lance Marshall was the losing pitcher.

Junior Olympics May 1

A Junior Olympic Track and Field Program sponsored by the AAU and the Quaker Oats Company will be held May 1 at the Princeton High School field. Competition is scheduled to get underway at 9 a.m.

The event is open to boys and girls in the Princeton School system. They will compete in a half dozen athletic events in three age brackets: 9 and under, 10 and 11, and 12 and 13. Winners will advance to district championships on May 15.

The state championship will be held in June at Rutgers Stadium. Complete information is available from the Princeton Recreation Department.

Petrie Ties for MVP

Geoff Petrie, the Princeton alumnus who played for the Portland Trail Blazers in the National Basketball Association this year, is one of two players named "most valuable" in the annual poll of sportswriters and broadcasters. He tied with Dave Cowens, of the Boston Celtics rookie the first time the balloting has resulted in a draw.

Petrie averaged 24.8 points and became the seventh player in the NBA history to top 2,000 in his first season. He totalled 2,031 and showed further evidence of his team's value when he ranked 13th in assists among all players with better than four a game.

HUN ROMPS, 25-1 Over Winless Perkiomen.

Hun School has always of late fielded a good hitting team—but this is ridiculous.

Hun pounced on visiting Perkiomen Monday for five runs in the first inning. Six innings and 16 hits later, it had 25 runs to 1 for Perkiomen.

A grand slam by Jackie Petrone and a pair of two-run homers by Greg Rafalski in a 10 run fourth inning high-lighted the carnage. Hun hurler Rick Ziegler was a standout as a pitcher and batter, take your pick.

He limited the losers to three hits and went a perfect 3 for 3 at the plate — four singles and a double. Another big blow off Hun's bats was Dennis Skrajewski's triple.

Hun, in winning its third in four starts, scored five in the first, four in the second (Petrone's slam) three in the third, 10 in the fourth and three more in the sixth.

BOWLING NOTES

Nassau League Nears End. With only three weeks to go, eight of the 12 teams in the Nassau League still have a chance for winning.

Tiger Garage and Hinkson's are currently tied, 56-56, for the lead, while Princeton Aviation has 54 and Grover Lumber has 52. Four others are bunched at 46-41.

High single game was a 242 by Fred Goeke of P&S Local 380. Jim Shely and Tony Milton each had 224 and 223. Between 214 and 201 were Tony Gaylord, Charles Bartolino, Pat Migliaccio, Ed Duncan, Vince Tufano, Buddy Fowler, Val Sabella, Al Hicks, Bert Sferra, Santo Tocco and Jerry Peructua.

Rialto Barber Shop's Mike Pinelli and Ivy Inn's Jim Kahny were high in the A League with 240 and 237 respectively. Ed Duncan Sr. of Lucar Hardware had 224.

Others between 216 and 200 included Alfie Ceraso, Bill Murphy, Joe Tufano, Mike Boccanfuso, Vince Tufano, Al Hibbard, Tony Amalfitino, Wes Cawley and Dick Fowler.

Hesco and Stefanelli's — the only two teams in contention — are still tied for the lead.

Scores were down in the Tri-County Firemen's League, where a 204 by Rich Rodefeld of Princeton Junction was the high game. Joe Ratcliff and Wally Brown, teammates of Rich, rolled 202 and 201. Bob Micinski and Doug Watson Jr. had 201s.

In the 190s were Norm Luck, Paul Tersely, Bucky Cupples, Bob and Bill Richardson.

Six points separate the top seven teams. Currently on top are Lawrenceville and King-Hilton and Dutch Neck who had 48. Princeton Junction 46, and three others, 44.

Sara Rose of Rocky Hill finished a 166 — high game last week in the Business Women's League. Marilyn Wilson had 184 and Kelly Masterton and Carol List, 182s.

Others: Jean Bucci, 181 (53 pins over her average); Elean or Pinelli, 174; and Dot Wheeler, 171.

Bucci Builders has 52 points and the lead. Rocky Hill Inn (48) and Balestrieri and Rocky & Sons (46 each) follow.

"THE RAJ" PUBLISHED

Princetonian's First Novel. The Seventies are bringing back the novel - a disfavored form for a cool generation or more. One more proof is "The Raj," a first novel by Donald H. Robinson of 694 Prospect Street, brought out this month by Houghton Mifflin Company in a regimental scarlet jacket.

"The Raj" returns to the novel form of great figures in history, rebellion and embattled human wills. It is set in Calcutta in the Thirties, days of waning British power, anarchists and civil disobedience. Against this backdrop is the tale of a scarred captain of the Poona Horse who has been passed over twice when promotions were handed out, a yellowed, embittered jute planter and an English spinster who has arrived in Calcutta as a member of "the fishing fleet."

"The fishing fleet was a very courageous bunch," Mr. Robinson said this week. "They had only that short 10 week season to catch a husband." He saw several "fishing fleets" arrive during the two years he spent in Calcutta with the Foreign Service.

He was there during the maneuverings between Ghandi in his cell and the viceroy, Lord Willingdon; the assassinations which Calcutta authorities thought could be traced to a single shadowy figure. He played wing three-quarters ("The furthest man out!") on the Calcutta Rugby team and swam on the Calcutta Swimming Club team. A friend was aide-de-camp to the governor.

All of this, and more, is reflected in his book. "It's a memory book. I was young and single and I had a wonderful time!"

Three Plays Produced. Mr. Robinson was in and out of the Foreign Service for 17 years after he graduated from Princeton in the class of 1932. He served in Canada, Calcutta, Trinidad, Stuttgart and Paris.

During these years, he sold three plays which were produced, but none reached Broadway. Each time he was encouraged enough to leave the Service and write.

During World War II, he was one of six men who started the American Forces Network, serving as program director. He was United States' import-export officer on the Military Security Board in Coblentz from 1952 to 1955, a group that was responsible for seeing that Germany did not rearm. He left the Foreign Service and came to Princeton in 1961. He is now a salesman with Henderson Realty on Alexander Street.

"The Raj" has been three years in the writing. 432 pages of pragmatism, love and terror, of British pomp on shifting mudflats and assassins in the alleyways, all told with increasing, fascinating pace.

MOVIEGOER IS VICTIM

Of Purse Snatchers. A woman from Lewisburg, Pa., lost her purse containing $100 in cash to two purse-snatchers Saturday night, a few minutes after she, her husband and their two children had attended a movie at the Princeton Playhouse.

Police identified the victim as Mrs. Meredith Fetter. They said she and her family had just left the Playhouse and were window shopping across the street when two young males approached.

Donald H. Robinson

She told police that her son spoke to one and as they passed by, the other reached over and grabbed her bag. They then fled along Hulfish toward Chambers.

Frank Boccanfuso, an off-duty Township patrolman, witnessed the theft from his car. He was aided by Ptl. Victor Fasanella on patrol on Nassau Street but a subsequent search of the area was fruitless.

One of the suspects was described as 5-10, of medium stature, wearing a maroon jacket and an afro haircut. The other was described as black and also about 5-10 but there was no further description.

MEMBERS WANTED

By Environment Group. Friends of the Princeton Environment, a new organization is seeking memberships from residents and neighbors of Princeton. Its aim is to serve as watch dog and lobbying group for environmental concerns and to enlarge the open space program in Princeton.

Officers are Edwin C. Hutter, chairman; Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth, vice-chairman; Mrs. Thomas C. Southerland Jr., treasurer and Mrs. James C. Sayen, secretary.

In a mailing to 2700 homes this week, the non-profit corportion states: "We seek to enlist mass citizen support for all constructive measures affecting the local environment. We will support the Princeton Conservation Commission when in agreement with their proposals, by being an informed, independent voice and an active lobby for conservation in the community.

"We will be instrumental in raising funds to continue and enlarge the open space program in the Princeton region."

Dues are $1 students; $3 single; $5 family. Applications and contributions as sponsors ($10 or more) may be sent to Mrs. Sayen, The Great Road.

The Board of Trustees includes: Charles F. Agle, William F. Alston, William J. Brennan III, William S Dix Jr., Erling Dorf, Walter F Fullam, Melvin B. Gottlieb, Mrs. James F. ROSES and RHUBARB

By DON ALLEN

Bogside Recollections . . .

Whether I need a day off or not, I traditionally hang a "gone Fishin" sign on my shop door and take the Monday after Easter off. After the crush of Easter business nothing helps glue me back together like communing with nature. My favorite passion is the Pine Barrens — my special weakness being the cedar swamps with their lattice of corduroy roads. So some with me this lazy, sunny, early spring day to the pines. Experience what is left of one of the great white cedar swamps while there is still something left to see.

I'll assume you can find your way down county route 539, below Allentown, on down past the Arneshold of the pines of Cream Ridge, past Whiting to Route 72. We will bear right here on Rt. 72 for 1.5 miles. Looking over to your left now you can see the "Plains" that fabled and distinctive area which is the heart of the pine barrens. Turning up 1.5 miles now you see a dirt road on your left. It isn't labeled but this is Jenkins Road. Compared to other roads through the plains this one is a freeway. As we turn onto Jenkins Road you can immediately notice the scrub character of the trees. Neither oak nor pine grow here over eight feet tall. This is a natural phenomenon — This "dwarf forest" — that to this day baffles science. Some claim that recurring forest fires have developed this dwarf species, others claim the soil is responsible. In any event, no theory has been proven and the mystery remains.

As we leave Route 72, we will clock off 3.2 miles and stop. On either side of the road now is the white cedar forest we came to see. In fact, we are astraddle the clear stream of the swamp where it passes under the road through a culvert. I like to stop here and peer out into the thicket. A snatch of childhood verse comes to mind. "This is the forest primeval" . . . Nothing save deer would penetrate this wood. The forest floor is covered with sphagnum moss, the tree trunks with lichen, no ray of sunlight penetrates. All is dark and quiet.

We'll proceed on now just .1 mile further and hang a right onto the sand and gravel road. The base of this road, being red in color — different from the surrounding white sandy soil — tells us the road bed was trucked in. Therefore, shabby though it may be, this road is actually maintained by the county. This is important to know when traveling the pines.

For the first time since we started we are now traveling north and parallel to our swamp. Clocking .5 mile we pull off on a little lane to our right. Stretching out before us now like a giant "Y" is our first corduroy road. This is a road across the bog laid down of old cedar poles and waste slab siding. You wouldn't want to thrust your car out there, but with caution you can walk it with safety. Try not to notice the heap of garbage on our right. Surely the despoilers are everywhere

The wind has come up and you can hear it whipping through the tree tops. It sounds like a distant waterfall — just a constant roar. A jack rabbit, looking for all the world like a small kangaroo on all fours, with his tremendous back legs, lopes off to the side and crouches under a scrub pine. I can still see him although he probably thinks I can't. An unlikely thought crosses my mind as I briefly ponder why domestic rabbit meat is all white (I grew rabbits by the hundreds) and wild rabbit meat is dark. I couldn't hurt you Brer' rabbit, you're part of what I came to see.

On either side of the logs now you can see the sphagnum moss — once a ready source of income for the Piney. When I first became a florist we used it to wrap spray bars and funeral wreath forms. Then styrofoam was introduced. It was neat and clean and inexpensive and it spelled doom to the flourishing South Jersey moss industry. Reaching in and pulling up a handful, I muse on how it was used in World War I as a place of cotton for dressing wounds — so naturally sterile is it. I squeeze the tea-colored water out of it again and again and remember that it has a water-holding capacity of eighteen times its own weight.

A distant snort betrays three deer. I look up in time to see three white tails flagging me from across the swamp. I stand at the end of the walk now and recall how last summer in August the Virginia cotton grass stretched out like a field of wild cotton. In my own lifetime I've seen this beautiful ornamental grass multiply and just take over this swamp.

This particular section which was probably logged out at the beginnnng of this century is gradually being reforested. The young cedar saplings are only six to eight feet tall and have a long way to go — but the job is under way and nature is in no hurry.

As I turn to go I try to imagine that I am the last person left on earth — so completely am I cut off from all man made sounds.

I get away with it for a little while. Then the jets out of McGuire start their screaming practice bomb runs down at Warren Grove. The sun is still shining. The grass is still green, but the reverie is over.

I'll go now. I had my moment. I got what I came for. What more could I ask?

News Of The CHURCHES

AUCTIONS: LOUD & SOFT

At Unitarian Church. This Saturday's Auction Etcetera at the Unitarian Church will be of two varieties: an auctioneered sale of silver, crystal, china, antique chests and other items, and a Silent Auction for such rewards as radio commericals, airplane flying lesson, a vacation cottage, math tutoring, even a home view of the planets through a 4" refractiog telescope under the guidance of an astronomer.

In addition to the two auctions, there will be a number of specialty booths where books, gourmet foods, plants, sports equipment, and boutique items will be found. Booths open at 10 a.m. and the auction begins at 11.

Artists contributing to the art booth include Trudy Glucksberg, Henry Beechold, Arnold Roth, May Rockland, Rex Goreleigh, Rowan Boone, Judy Alpert, Margaret Johnson and others.

Teenagers from the church will run a flea market, featuring original tie-dyed shirts.

For children's entertainment, there will be three movies and two folk singing sessions with Caroline Mosley, Lauren Sarno, Tom Young, as well as a game room where children can entertain themselves for a 10c entrance fee. New and used toys and games will be sold. Babysitting is available.

Luncheon and refreshments are planned: a cheese delicacy from Switzerland, raclette, will be served from 11 until 1.

Beneficiaries of past auctions have included the Princeton Study Center, Princeton Youth Center, the House of Soul, Trenton: camping funds for needy children and matching funds for a Livingston College student.

AUCTION ETC. will be held this Saturday at the Unitarian Church, Stale and Cherry Hill Roads, with items as far apart as ship models and a look at the moon. There will also be booths and children's entertainment. Hours are 10 to 4. Various charities benefit from the auction proceeds.

TO MARK C.O.C.U. SUNDAY

With Evening Service. Study groups on church union are sponsoring service Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Niles Chapel of First Presbyterian Church, marking the national "Consultation on Church Union Sunday."

The Interfaith Education and Worship Task Force of the Princeton Interfaith Council will present a panel discussion of the March and April study groups, David Harrje, task force leader, has announced. The Rev. Dr. Paul Crowe, executive director of the Consultation on Church Union, will respond.

A second series of study groups will begin next week, led by the Rev. David McAlpin. There will be four or five sessions. Inquiries are directed to Mrs. Robert Westover, 921-2494.

Princeton churches taking part are the Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, A.M.E. and United Church of Christ.

JAMAICAN TO SPEAK

At Mt. Pisgah. The annual Women's Day service will be held at 11 this Sunday in Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. Mrs. Audrey Gibbs of Jamaica, West Indies, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Gibbs served for many years as a teacher in the elementary schools and as a social worker. A social hour fellowship hour follows the service.

Mrs. Ester Brown is general chairman of the Women's Day program. The Rev. Marion Stokes Sr. is pastor.

BULLETIN NOTES

Rabbi Meir Kahan of the Jewish Defense League in New York will address the Princeton Hillel Foundation at 8 p.m. this Sunday in the auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School. His topic is "Is the Use of Violence a Legitimate Strategy of Jewish Survival?" Discussants will be Professor Melvin Tumin of the department of sociology and Professor Sheldon Isenberg of the religion department. The public meeting is sponsored by B'nai Brith Hillel at the University.

Church Drama Set

"The Serpent", with the award-winning cast from Mercer County Community College, will be given at 11 this Sunday in Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane.

The play opens with the Kennedy and King assasinations and shifts to the Garden of Eden, showing biblical assuptions that are still the bases for many of man's choices. The performance climaxes the week-long arts festival at the church.

The art exhibit remains open through 5 on Sunday.

Homemade baked goods will also be on sale at the Antiques Show this Saturday from 10 to 7 at the United Methodist Church of Cranbury. Crafts to be demonstrated include chair stenciling, china painting, candle making, quilting, knittiing, rug hooking and painting on glass. There will be a snack bar and a baby sitting service. Donation is $1.

Rev. Dr. Diogenes Allen, professot of the philosophy of reiligion at Princeton Theological Seminary, will join with the Rev. Dr. Walter Carvin, pastor of Princeton Baptist Church, in a dialogue sermon "Faith and Doubt in Christian Life," this Sunday at 11 in Princeton Baptist Church. Members of the congregation will have an opportunity to send written questions to the speakers.

The annual smorgasbord dinner at Trinity Episcopal Church in Rocky Hill is set for this Saturday, with serving from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the parish house, Crescent Avenue. Donatiun is $3.50 for adults; $1.75 for children. Tickets are available at the door, or in advance from Mrs. E. Townsent, 921-8765.

A chicken salad and ham dinner is scheduled at Kingston Methodist Church for 4:30 on Saturday, May 1. The Ladies' Aid is sponsor. Donation is $3 for adults; $1.75 for children under age 12.

The Rev. F. Hugh Lifliton of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will again lead the Anzac Memeorial Service this Sunday in Rockefeller Center at the invitation of New Zealand Consul General J. G. Ammundsen.

"There, But For the Ramsey Clarks, Goes Justice in America" is the title of the sermon to be given by the Rev. Robert L. Cope at 9 and 11 on Sunday in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State Roads.

Nooks and crannies, open beams, wide floor boards, original hardware, old window glass — this is mouth-watering stuff for old house buffs; and it's all here. What's more, the charm of the past in this 1740 farmhouse, with its 1781 and 1961 wings, is enhanced by fine condition and near-new basics (furnace, wiring, piping, etc.)

Vital statistics: center hall, living room and parlor with fireplaces, dining room, kitchen, 5 bedrooms (or 4 and study), playroom, 3 baths, 5 acres, fenced play yard.

Extra specials: The dining room has a beamed ceiling, a wee, almost secret staircase winding up from it and the traditional walk-in fireplace. The kitchen, pretty, practical, big enough for a family to cook, eat and play in, has a three-way exposure which exposed us to a bit of bucolic byplay. (Bird and cow watchers, take note.) We saw a neighboring cow detach herself from the herd, wander over and casually reaching across the fence, proceed to snitch seed from the bird feeder!

Tucked off on a quiet West End street, this spic and span 4 bedroom, 2½ bath frame house sits on its well-tended and landscaped ¾ acre. If it were a person, words like friendly, cheerful and dependable would be used to describe it rather than exciting, stimulating, imaginative and such. But for many of us, the first kind of person is a lot easier to live with than the second, and that could well be true when it comes to a home. In any case, this is a thoroughly nice, comfortable house, now newly and quite realistically priced at $69,500

IS THERE A LITTLE FARMER IN YOUR SOUL?

If so here's a wonderful outlet that could be fun and won't be a backbreaker On over 4½ acres of woods and tillable meadow (already planted with numerous fruit trees) in the rolling countryside midway between Princeton and Lawrenceville, a classic New Jersey farmhouse with all the warmth and charm of another era. Its center hall is flanked by a pair of cozy parlors and leads to a marvelous, big dining room with a wide, open hearth Country kitchen will comfortably accommodate the whole family and has conveniently adjoining laundry and bath. Upstairs, 2 pairs of bedrooms, each with its own bath, are separated by a big sitting-playroom and small study or office at the head of the back stair. Offered here for the first time at $66.000

FOR THE TWO OF YOU

One of the most attractive small houses we've seen in a long while — and right in town on a quiet cul-de-sac so you can cut down to one car On the ground floor there's a spectacular contemporary living room with high ceiling, unique fireplace and sliding glass to a covered deck; dining room up a step; study; bedroom with lavatory; and fully equipped modern kitchen. Upstairs 2 bedrooms & bath. Shady quarter acre which needs minimal care. This one, not surprisingly, gives every indication that it will sell quickly at $52.500

BUT IF YOU ARE 4 OR 5

A versatile house of many levels in Princeton's sought-after Riverside with rooms for everyone and nooks and crannies for everything. On the entrance floor, along with a foyer big enough to greet a horde of guests in, you'll find a panelled study, full bath, and playroom opening to screened porch Up a step or two, the living room with its fireplace and window wall, the dining room and kitchen share the same level. Up above, there are 3 bedrooms and 2 baths together, plus a large 4th bedroom off by itself. The cellar has been finished into 3 usable rooms and there's a 2 car garage All of which adds up to a lot of elbow room and privacy for a bouncy active family. On nearby 3/4 of an acre with towering trees and a brook. $72.500

ELEGANT RETIREMENT HOUSE

Small, easily maintained and very stylish brick house in a charming Western Borough garden 3 bedrooms, 3 baths. Available immediately at $79.500

CONVENIENTLY OUT OF THE WAY

Just eight minutes from Nassau Street, this farmhouse colonial overlooks a distant pond and woods. Centrally air conditioned, four bedrooms with 3 full baths upstairs, and a living room with beamed ceiling and country fireplace add to a feeling of comfort and charm. Owners are moving and anxious to sell. Asking $68.000

A LITTLE TALE ABOUT A BIG HOUSE

Once upon a time (about a year and a half ago) a nice man who builds houses because he likes to (though he doesn't mind a little cash too) chose a quiet roomy Colonial type of house. Then he looked around for a nice family to live in his house, love it and add the extra touches that only living and loving can add. A nice Realtor (guess who!) found his family for him quickly (because it was such a very nice house.) The family lived happily, but sadly, not ever after, in the nice house because the father got a new job far away from home. Now they are looking for another nice family to live in their nice house (for only $72,500.) so this little tale will have a happy ending!

Living room, dining room, superb kitchen, handsome family room, five bedrooms (all large but one smaller bedroom), 3½ baths.

Women Here Oppose "Aura of Unreality" in Children's Textbooks

"Look at her, Mother, just look at her. She is just like a girl. She gives up."

Thirty Princeton women are so bowled over by their findings in 144 nationally used primers for school children that they have cornered The Author's Guild and the Children's Book Association, demanding change.

"The reading books show little girls as helpless, and often stupid. Little boys are tremendously pressured to succeed. Mother is a wet blanket. She's emotional and unreasonable. And father is a beloved being who never loses his cool," Joan Bartle of the informal committee says.

In this country, 6,000,000 of the 12,000,000 working mothers have boys and girls under age 6, but the committee was startled to discover only two stories that even mentioned a working mother.

In fact, as Elizabeth Hagen summarized in her report:

Mothers in all the series are occupied with domestic cares and services. In illustrations they wear skirts, smiles, short neat hairdos and aprons, and they often carry trays of cookies. Sometimes they drive cars.

Why He's a Bully. "In one Bank Street Reader a working mother is found (but only in a school food line). In a Harper and Row Book Five story, a fat, unhappy bully is described whose problem, by implication, is that his mother works and is not at home to welcome him after school.

"On page 107: 'Martin had never minded, or anyway, not very much, and it wouldn't have mattered if he had minded, because the Hastings family needed the extra money she made.' This child conflicts in the story with a 'good' boy whose mother is at home every day to give him cookies and milk. The implicit social judgment is unmistakeable."

SLANTED SCHOOL BOOKS? Girls (like Holly Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammond of Linden Lane) tend to be downgraded in elementary school reading books, a committee of Princeton women reports. Story, this page.

The primer project was the result of an objection raised by a member of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the National Organization for Women. The original objection was to the down-grading of girls as portrayed in the primer stories. As the study grew, drawing first eight women and increasing to 30, the women discovered that the entire panorama of life as presented in the readers lacks reality.

"These books do not reflect the present state of our society or even come close to portraying the conditions of our world today. Furthermore, they do a great deal of damage in preventing the full development of individual potentials because of the strict sexual sterotyping," Mrs. Bartl reports.

Unsatisfactory Ratio. Fifteen reader series by ten different publishers were studied, ranging from primer to 6th grade level. In the total of 144 readers examined, there were 881 centered on boys and 344 centered on girls. "This represents 72% boy-oriented stories to cater for 49% of small boys in the elementary school population," Mrs. Hagen notes.

Similarly, there are 282 stories about men to 127 about women. There were 131 biographies of famous men to 23 biographies of famous women. "These are all super women," Mrs. Bartl exclaims. Jane Adams, Florence Nightingale — but no average women.

"There are many stories of average men, playing cards, being together in a group, but women are always shown a lone — no parties, no bridge clubs, no interests outside of their homes, the women just don't congregate!

Geographically, boys are all over the place. In the Ginn basic readers a boy visits a moon base with his father; a Puerto Rican boy starts a business with his grandfather; a farm boy does a man's job harvesting corn after his father is injured. An Arab boy rescues a lamb.

Lapp boys do "a man's work" in a wolf hunt. A Canadian boy learns a skill — he is really getting to be a man when he learns to handle a kayak."

Girls Are Belittled. Parallel incentives for girls are totally lacking. They remain domestic or neighborhood in their settings. And they are often belittled.

In the first three primers published by Scott Foreman, a boy sets up a carnival act, a boy teaches a dog to jump for food, a boy solves the problem of keeping mother's floor clean, a boy solves the problem of a runaway dog, a boy uses a magnet to solve a problem for a girl, a boy builds a car — and girls interfere.

In Book One of the same series, a girl goes shopping for mother and forgets where her pocket is. A girl goes shopping, drops apples and forgets the eggs.

A girl loses a rabbit, a boy finds it for her. Girls make corn patties, and chickens eat them.

In the Ginn basic readers Box Six, a girl gets lost in London. There's the comment, "Girls are always late." In Harper and Row Basic Reading Program, Primer Level "just a girl" is played heavily: "Get lost," said Ann. "I am just a girl, but I know enough not to do that." In another story "You cannot write and spell well enough to write a book. You are just two little girls." Elsewhere is the line "Let a girl do the starting." Not a chance!"

Mrs. Hagen comments, "It is accepted in the reader universe that to denigrate girls is a satisfactory sign of masculinity in small boys. The effects of this attitude on girls themselves is not considered."

A Puff for the Boys. The researchers found that at the 4th, 5th and 6th grade levels, the stories about boys place increasing emphasis on manhood, running and achievement. "Camping out, Ed?" said the tall man. 'Get more like your father every day. He would have been here fast, but he couldn't have come faster than you did." (Page 247, Book G, Lippincott's Basic Reading Program.) Also, "In a family, when a boy does his work well, perhaps he can earn his wish." (Girls are never paid for domestic chores.)

Biographies of men, the committee discovered, often show the progression from boyhood ambition to manly achievement. In Lippincott's Basic Reading Program Book E:, for instance, "Even when he (Buffalo Bill) was a little boy of five he had learned to ride a horse. By the time he was eight he was an expert

"Hardesty Park" Playwright Is Humble Egotist (He Says)

"MARK HOPKINS ON THE END OF A MONOLOGUE:" Playwright Bill McCleery turns the famous description into a quip, describing his role as playwright teacher at Princeton University. Commenting on his new play "Hardesty Park," he says a playwright has to have a combination of ego and humility in order to succeed. Since he is, himself, a success, he probably has the right combination.

"I sit during rehearsals and laugh my head off -- not just at my own lines, but at the actors because they're a marvelous cast! Exceptional, really!"

When a playwright thinks the cast is doing nicely by his lines, you've got a real love story.

The playwright is William McCleery and the play is his "Hardesty Park," which those marvellous actors from Princeton Community Players will present in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church.

Friday, May 7, is opening night, and "Hardesty Park" will play again Saturday, May 8 and again on Friday and Saturday the following weekend. Reservations for tickets may be made by calling 921-3058 between noon and 9 p.m.

Bill McCleery is gainfully employed as editor of "University: A Princeton Quarterly," and he teaches a playwriting class, also.

Eminently qualified for both positions, he has spent the years since his 1931 graduation from the University of Nebraska with the Associated Press (executive editor in charge of features); on the editorial staff of "Life"; as Sunday editor of "PM," the experimental New York paper of the '40's; associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal and as the published and played author of Broadway comedy hits.

We begin with "Hope for the Best," produced on Broadway in 1945 with Franchot Tone as star and Marc Connelly as director. We move to 1947 and the Broadway production of "Parlor Story," starring Walter Abel.

"Good Housekeeping," headed for Broadway with Helen Hayes and her daughter as stars, sadly missed its goal because of the daughter's death. But it was played on radio by Rosalind Russell, on TV with Faye Emerson and on stage in Chicago with Myrna Loy.

Helen Hayes came back into the McCleery world when she did "Good Morning, Miss Dove" at Catholic University in Washington.

"Broadway is the target for 'Hardesty Park'," Bill McCleery reveals, "and this is a shake-down production, which my agent will come to see. I myself wanted to see and hear it on its feet and make those changes you can only do when you have a live cast and director.

"I'd seen and admired Sallie Brophy's direction of Intime's 'The Homecoming' so I showed her 'Hardesty.' She had a lot of things to say, so I asked her if she'd like to do it and she agreed."

A boyish kind of guy with articulate eyebrows and nuts 'tache ("It's a new mustache," he says tentatively . . .) Bill McCleery looks like the kind of playwright who writes comedies.

"I'm a conscientious person," he says, as though surprised by the fact, "and I have a gift for comedy. In the past, I've always loaded my comedies with my conscience. But I don't have to bore my audiences with my preaching any more because editing 'University' salves my conscience and lets the audience go free."

"'Hardesty Park' is one of those comedies you can keep polishing and polishing" he observes. "It's better than anything I've done before and it will be really good by the time I get through with it.

"I've bounced it off a lot of people to get their ideas and I have indirect help from my playwriting class. I listen to my students read and criticize their own plays, and I say to myself, about 'Hardesty Park,' well, 'I've got to fix this or that!'"

Take a canny publicity agent, he only teases about 'Hardesty' and won't talk about it in depth. "Go see it," he grins, and adds, "I love this play!"

REPERTORY WINDS DOWN

Final Performance Saturday.

With Oscar Wilde's farce, "The Importance of Being Earnest," McCarter will close down repertory for at least the 1971-72 season.

The final performance will be this Saturday at 8:30 p.m. The last performance of Harold Pinter's "The Homecoming" will be given this Friday at 8:30.

Next season, McCarter will have a full schedule of events, booked from Broadway and off - Broadway University spokesmen say that some form of resident theatre will resume in the fall of 1972.

YOU, ON STAGE

In "Alice in Wonderland."

Nobody will be in the auditorium when Alice in Wonderland," the off-off Broadway hit, plays McCarter for two performances on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 18 and 19.

The audience will be seated on stage, and so each performance can accommodate only 300 spectators. All seats are unreserved, both on the stage floor and on platforms and scaffolding all around, so it is suggested that members of the audience bring a cusion and dress informally.

"Fantastic . . . a house of words full of fun, terror and agony," wrote Clive Barnes the "Times" man, "an evening that is both funny and terrifying."

"Alice in Wonderland" has been adapted from the Lewis Carroll classic by members of the Manhattan Project Company under the direction of Andre Gregory. It's now in its seventh month in New York.

BIGGER! BETTER!

Triangle. "I didn't believe a student could write something that funny!" That's what a freshman co-ed said as she watched the recent rehearsal of a Triangle Club skit for "Cracked Ice," the Triangle Show that will open at McCarter next Thursday.

Milton Lyon is back as the professional directorial advisor. He likes working with larger Triangle cast, and one that includes women, and he finds it rewarding to see humor coming from today's students. "There is a healthy humor component both in the writing and acting talent,' he has observed, "and I don't remember in all my years with Triangle as much good singing as we have now."

In "Cracked Ice," Adam and Eve explore the implication of Women's Lib in Eden; a ballet interprets the social situation of drugs and music; there's a country western heartbreak story, a Rowan/Martin routine about college life and a ballet about a sad park bench man who brings to life an imaginary marionette.

DANCERS IN REHEARSAL

For Aparri Ballets. Young Princeton dancers are poised for their roles in three ballets to be presented Sunday, May 2, at 3 in the Aparri Ballet Festival.

The event will be held at Princeton Day School. Tickets, at $2.50, are on sale at Male's Book Shop, Nassau and Charlton, and Robert's Shoes in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Sarah Rothrock, who is 11 years old, will dance Snow White in the Aparri version of the famous fairy tale. Roberta Nelson will be the beautiful, jealous Second Queen. Gabriella Kiss will be the Deer who dances a pas de deux with Snow White before the Huntsman (Tom Brown, of Westminster Choir College) pulls his fatal bow.

Sara Olessi will be the Bird of Paradise who leads Snow White to the safety of the dwarfs' home. The king will be John Hall, a student at Princeton High School. The First Queen will be Wendy Frieman, and the Mirror Image in the mirror scene will be Anne Wilson.

Before "Snow White," there will be two other Aparri ballets. The first is the famous Victorian "Pas de Quatre," first danced in 1848 by four leading ballerinas of the era. Aparri dancers who will recapture the spirit of a by-gone day will be Jane Billington as Carlotta Grisi; Claudine Frank as Lucille Grahn; Anne Kilbourne as Fanny Cerrito and Cynthia Werts as Marie Taglioni.

Immediately after, the same four will dance as Sultanas in "Scherazade," soloists in this ballet will be Kim Powsner and Rachel Westlake.

ROCK IN TOWN

Cat, Kate and Den. Cat Stevens, the English rock star, will come to Alexander Hall next Monday at 8 p.m. (McCarter is the sponsor and tickets are on sale there) as the first in a group of spring rock artists.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE VERANDA OPENS

At Cricket Cage. A boutique featuring young clothes opened this week at The Cricket Cage, the antiques shop facing the railroad station in Hopewell. Mrs. Donald Wall has found a delightful young designer, Lola Tindell of Lawrenceville, whose clothes are full of sunny colors, unusual fabrics and a certain femininity in the flowing lines.

"Lola's Clothes," as the labels read, sometimes have antique laces and trims found by Mrs. Wall on her travels. Most of the fabrics are cottons - so cool in summertime. Many are Indonesian batiks. More are coming in from Kenya and, hopefully, Guatemala. No two dresses are alike, which makes shopping at "The Veranda," as the boutique is called, even more interesting.

The designs are all fun clothes and party clothes, keyed by from the exciting fabrics themselves. We saw skirts in long and short lengths, tops, dresses and hot pants, and in the price range of $15 to $45. "I have a thing about clothes being well constructed," Lola says, and you'll see she means it.

She has been designing clothes since 1955, when she did clothes for a Tampa, Fla., boutique. She gives her dresses whimsical names: "Peach Melba" is a soft, clingy dress with a deep collar of old lace; "African Sun Queen" is a bright, deeply-flounced skirt with a short, sexy hemline in the front.

And then there's the eloquent yellow gingham, its long shirt shot with inserts of soft orange in a Mandrian-type theme. The neckline is a deep U and the sleeves are gracefully long and full. The name? "Corn."

Lola uses richly colored patchwork inserts in a number of the long skirts, spaced and accented with solid color. Several of the short skirts are of embroidered huck toweling. All are charming.

If you like a particular dress and the size is wrong for you, you may order a similar one, but it will not exactly duplicate the fabric - because "one of a kind" is the name of the game.

Mrs. Wall has long wanted to add a boutique that's different to her spick-and-span antiques shop, where she has increasingly specialized in dolls. She found Lola through artist Barbara Pinkham of Princeton after a long search. "I think Lola's Clothes are original and exciting!" she beams.

The Cricket Cage has also given over a section of its showroom to the original designs in candles by Tom Byrne and Jennie Walke of Hopewell. But that's another story.

You'll enjoy your visit there. The Cricket Cage (and The Veranda) are open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 to 5; Sundays from noon until 5.

NOTHING IN CANS

At The Tomato Factory. There are two interesting interior decorators at The Tomato Factory in Hopewell, Cay C. Mohrman and Mary Ann Browning. Their work is characterized by simplicity with a flair - and a fine reputation for reliability.

Blonde Mrs. Mohrman worked on the Honeymoon Cottage of Thomas Jefferson some years ago. "He and his bride lived there while Monticello was being built, and he left an inventory of the furniture. It was mostly Philadelpaia and New England pieces - Monticello was filled with imported furniture."

She is fascinating to talk to about a range of interiors from the Hessian barracks in Charlottesville to a William Thompson house she is currently doing. "Once," she laughs, "I reversed the living room and the dining room. I really got carried away!. It was a complete reversal - but now the house works. . ."

Mrs. Browning, whose husband is Maurice Browning, the owner of The Tomato Factory, has worked with Beatrice West, the New York designer and has done houses, offices and institutions - a great range. "It's a kind of sensitivity thing," she says of interior decorating." You have to listen to and sense the taste of the client."

Their headquarters in The Tomato Factory is not as incongruous as it may seem, as the day when the building on Railroad Avenue near the station was used to receive and process tomatoes for Campbell Soup Company is long, long past. Now it is filled with fabrics - with samples in the showrooms of the absolutely enchanting shower curtains manufactured there to be retailed in boutiques from I. Magin to Harrod's in London. If you're canny with your money (no pun intended) you'll probably head over there for your new shower curtains (and have a terrible time deciding which one to choose), because of the outlet price.

And since Mr. Browning is a manufacturer, the two interior designers are able to obtain fabric for window drapes, slipcovers, custom cloths at a fraction of retail cost. You also have the advantage of seeing what a great length of the material would look like when it is made up - which is hard to do from swatches.

———

Currently Mrs. Mohrman is doing a house for one of the new people coming here with Squibb. They have just completed contract work for executives of De Laval in Trenton, and have done a great deal of the in-between type of assignments - living rooms, customized bathrooms, whatever.

———

The fabrics they work with are Zepel finished, so that a spilled drink on a table cloth, for instance, is no problem. "I didn't quite realize how effective that finish is until I used the fabric in a tablecloth at home," Cay Mohrman comments. Among them, was a delightful Metropolitan Museum of Art fabric with a bell theme.

———

Since they work so much with color and its effectiveness, Mrs. Mohrman and Mrs. Browning have concluded that there are "blue-and green people, orange-and-yellow people, and people who love the monotons - browns and beige." The preferences are very indicative and provocative to an interior decorator.

———

Cay Mohrman seconds the definition given by English decorator David Hicks, "A good decorator is a person who can get the most results out of the least money." With their flair and the factory discount, the girls at the Tomato Factory are good people to know.

THE ANTIQUES GAME

Ask Karl Gunsser. Over in Titusville, on the River Road not far from the old Presbyterian Church, is the workshop of antiques restorer Karl Gunsser. The Delaware, flood swollen when we were there last week, flows by his door and on the far bank are trees and fields, giving you a glimpse of the old days before riverfront property was developed.

The building was a tomato cannery in the days when tomatoes were barged down the canal. Later it became a grange hall and then a dance hall. For the past seven or eight years Karl Gunsser has repaired and restored antiques there. In the tidy workroom are some works-in-progress, as well as restoration projects of the small group of seven women who are learning some aspects of restoration under his tutelage.

He has done a great deal to instruct antique lovers in the recognition of a true antique through his classes at the Princeton Adult School. About half of the class time is devoted to identification and about half to actually restoring the antiques each member of the class chooses for a project. The flavor lingers on, because his students keep coming back, year after year. An opportunity to enter a class will open up this fall.

Karl Gunsser became a furniture restorer through sheer love of the craft, working first as a hobby, and then finally chucking his job with United States Steel and plunging in full time. He has done a great variety of work, in the painfully slow methods required by his craft. "I know how long it takes me to do something. I can well understand the work and skill in the original pieces. . .the hand turning where we have modern electric tools.

The Shakers, Quakers, and Pilgrims are alive and well at Cane Farm

"Less is more" said the 1930 modernists. "Amen", came the centuries-old answer of our earliest settlers. Their search for simplicity and truth gave us some of the finest examples of American design and craftsmanship. You can see — and buy — museum-quality re-creations of these fine pieces at Cane Farm Furniture.

For Example:

Sturdy little Shaker tripod table. Great for snackers, readers, smokers.

Next is a double concert with Kate Taylor and Don Cooper, who will check in at Alexander Hall Saturday, May 1 at 8 p.m. Kate is the youngest performer in the Taylor family, whose family album includes her three older brothers (James, Alex, Livingston).

Don Cooper sings folk rock and country as well as blues. He composes and writes lyrics, besides just performing. His latest album is "Bless the Children."

BOBBY BROOKES HERE

For Youth Center. Bobby Brookes, the jazz singer from Philadelphia, will join the Ebony Groove in a show this Sunday under the sponsorship of the Princeton Youth Center.

The artists will appear at 7:30 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School auditorium. Tickets, at $3, are available at the Center and may be reserved through Miss Bess of the Center's staff, by calling 924-0996.

Bobby Brookes has appeared on such television shows as "Soul," has appeared in night clubs (The First Nighter and the Latin Quarter) and has recently recorded an album for RCA.

The Ebony Groove is a group of Princeton University instrumentalists.

GARDEN

Waterloo (now playing) is a great spectacle by director Sergei Bondarchuk ("War and Peace") with battle scenes that leave a lasting impression.

Rod Steiger gives many personal touches to his rollof Napoleon; Christopher Plummer is a worthy Wellington and Dan O'Herlihy is excellent as the implusive Ney. Orson Welles appears as Louis XVIII.

There are many exciting scenes, culminating with the terrible battle. The use of slow motion during the cavalry charge captures rare moments of beauty. The soldiers, by the way, are 16,000 Russians who enacted the epic battle on location in the Ukraine.

the short hours of daylight in winter that reduced the time they could work."

In his pile of scraps are odd pieces and lengths of 18th Century woods, treasured beyond price, for repair. He painstakingly matches woods and grains, makes wooden pegs to match the old ones, carefully brings out the patina through repeated work with special oil, and in all, the finished restoration is authentic in every way.

An 18th Century slant top desk is slowly being restored. The system is short, careful stages. "You only get one shot," he says ruefully. "You can't goof it up. There's no going out and buying another piece for a fresh start!" A water damaged Chinese Chippendale loveseat took him an entire summer.

Projects he has worked on include a late 17th Century laddar back chair, a Queen Anne settee, an 18th Century walnut tavern table—the latter purchased by the William Randolph Hearst collection, and many more.

Mr. Gunsser makes furniture to order, too—from seasoned slabs of wood that you see neatly stacked here and there. A random-width coffee table, a dining table, cabinets, chairs, all on special order.

He has developed a very reliable method of copying the original Hitchcock stencils when he restores the chairs, and has worked with restoration projects, such as the rosewood graining on the doors of New Hope's old Parry House.

He will intrigue you with his discussion of veneer and patina, show you the great difference between the 18th Century pine and modern pine as he rubs a little oil on to bring out the patina, and overwhelm you with the delicacy and care of his restoration work.

As he moves around his orderly workshop, he will tell you that he has found that, generations ago, members of his family were cabinet workers in Philadelphia. He has inherited their affinity for the craft, because he says, "For the first time in my life, I don't feel that I am working!"

Only one person can end the war.

You.

Yes, you. The average American who has felt so powerless up until now.

As a matter of fact, the more average-American you are, the more power you have to influence events at this crucial moment in American history.

The Gallup poll of January 30 showed that 73% of the people want Congressional action to require the Government to bring home all U.S. troops from Indochina before the end of this year.

73% of the people. You can't get much more average-American than that.

Now all you have to do is ask for it.

If you speak up, it means that other Americans like you will speak up. But if you remain silent, you have no right to expect anyone else to open his mouth.

Congress can and should act.

The battle of public opinion has been won. Now we must organize for a legislative end to the war.

The Congress of the United States should be the target of your message. It can legislate an end to the war. And members of Congress will do so if they know that is what the people want. Particularly the people from their own states and districts.

That is why it is so essential for your elected representatives to hear from you.

A major—perhaps historic—battle is beginning to shape up in the Senate and House to restore the Constitutional powers of the Congress. The Constitution of the United States asserts that the power to determine when and where we go to war rests with Congress, not the President. But recent Presidents have viewed this assertion lightly.

Many Senators and Representatives—Republicans as well as Democrats, conservatives as well as liberals—are profoundly concerned over the erosion of their historic powers under the Constitution.

As you read this, a bipartisan group of influential Senators and Representatives is working to restore the Constitutional role of Congress, and to exercise the authority they have under the Constitution to withhold war appropriations in order to get all our troops out of Indochina before the end of 1971.

Urge your Congressman and your two Senators to join this movement. Tell them that we want all our armed forces and our prisoners of war withdrawn from Indochina no later than December 31st, 1971. They can do it.

Appoint yourself a committee of one.

Ask everyone you know to write. Remember: 73% of your fellow citizens are against this war and want us to get out. But they don't know what to do about it. You can help them make their voices heard.

Write to the newspapers about it. Call up the talk shows and DJs on your local radio stations. Use your imagination!

Common Cause is bringing fresh forces into the battle.

Common Cause is the new citizen's lobby organized in September by John W. Gardner, former Secretary of Health, Education & Welfare.

We already have a cadre of more than 115,000 active members in every state of the union, and we are growing at the rate of 1,000 new members a day.

We have experience in lobbying. We are organized to tackle tough issues and fight them through.

To give you an idea of the scope of our efforts, Common Cause is running this

Chicago Sun-Times	Phoenix Republic
Christian Science Monitor	St. Louis Post Dispatch
Denver Post	Salt Lake City Tribune
Los Angeles Times	San Francisco Chronicle/Examiner

National Observer	Washington Post

And this is only the beginning.

This is a powerful, broadly-based, Middle of the Road movement to end the war. Pro-war elements like to claim that only a "fringe" of the American people is anti-war. But 73% isn't a fringe. It's the Middle of the Road. The movement has strong and responsible backing within the halls of Congress.

We can win this.

On the basis of soundings that we have taken in the Senate and the House, we believe that this fight can be won.

The American people want this endless war to end. They want all the soldiers home. They want the prisoners released.

In contrast, the President has not only not set a date for complete termination of our involvement, he has never said flatly and explicitly that he ever intends that all American military forces be withdrawn from Vietnam.

If we can end this disastrous war even one day sooner, it will be worth our best effort.

If you want to do more...

join us in Common Cause, the new citizen's lobby.

Common Cause is independent and non-partisan, a third force in American life, but not a third party.

It aims to revitalize our institutions of government and make them more responsive to the people.

It defends the public interest against all encroachment, particularly by the special interests that dominate our lives today.

It believes that politics had better become "everybody's business".

Our members played a leading role in the fight to defeat the SST.

We were in the thick of the battle to reform the Congressional seniority system, in which significant changes were made for the first time in 25 years.

We have filed suit against the major political parties for violation of election campaign spending laws.

We invite you to join us in Common Cause.

We cannot and should not depend on big contributors. The money to support our work must come from the members themselves.

Therefore we ask you to enclose a check for $15 with your application.

With a large and determined membership, we can help end the war and begin to rebuild America.

ART TOUR PLANNED

Sculptor's Home on View. A visit to the Mercer Street home of Dorothea Greenbaum will be a feature of the Chapin Art Tour on May 13. A nationally recognized artist, she also owns one of this country's most outstanding collections of American paintings of the 1930's.

During the 1920's Mrs. Greenbaum studied at the Art Students League with Kenneth Hayes Miller, an exponent of traditional values. Until 1927 she was a painter at Miller's Fourteenth Street School. While there she worked along with the urban regionalists Yasuo Kunioshi, Alexander Brook, Reginald Marsh, Niles Spencer and Peggy Bacon. These artist's works comprise a large portion of Mrs. Greenbaum's collection.

One day a friend gave Mrs. Greenbaum some modeling clay for relaxation. Ever since that time she has been absorbed in the traditional techniques of sculpture. Her life-size bronzes of whimsical little girls allow a nostalgic return to an era of romantic realism. She has recently extended her interests to print making and many of her charming prints of birds, animals and sea life will be displayed during the tour.

Mrs. Greenbaum has exhibited throughout the nation. Her most recent exhibit was a two man show last spring with Isabell Bishop at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton. Her lovely Victorian house provides a comfortable home for the artist's personal collection and the works of her fellow students of the thirties. After a tour through the first floor, her place of inspiration — the studio seperate, apart from the house will be visited.

The tour of four of Princeton's private art collections plus a sculpture garden will be preceded by an art exhibit, lecture and sandwich luncheon at the Unitarian Church on May 13 at 11:30. The exhibit at the church will include works by the winners of the New Jersey State Museum's Sixth annual juried show. Prof. Patrick J. Kelleher, Director of the Art Museum at Princeton University, will be the guest lecturer.

The tour is sponsored by the Parents Association of Chapin School as a benefit for the school; tickets include the cost of the luncheon and art lecture. To write for tickets, send 6 to Chapin Home Art Tour, 331 Riverside Drive, Princeton. For further information, call Mrs. Marvin Charen 921 2932.

THE MERCER STREET HOME of Dorothea Greenbaum and her studio will be a part of the Art Tour scheduled for May 13 to benefit the Chapin School. Four art collections will also be shown. Details, this page.

FRELINGHUYSEN ON VIEW At Drawing Room. Sculpture and drawings by Thomas T. K. Frelinghusen, Princeton artist, will be exhibited at The Drawing Room, 33 Witherspoon Street, following a special preview Sunday from 3-6 p.m.

After the preview, they will be on view Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 11 to 5 and Saturdays from 10 to 1 through Saturday, May 15.

Mr. Frelinghuysen turned to sculpture in 1927 after his graduation from Princeton. His favorite subjects are horses, dogs, cats and cattle, and he is especially well-known for his bronzes of horses and his garden sculptures.

He has exhibited at the Sarasota National Museum in Florida and such New York galleries as the Galerie Internationale, Merie Sterner, Feragil and J. St. O'Toole.

"HOLY LAND IN ART" Exhibit at Seminary. "The Holy Land in Art," an exhibition of the works of Lou Burnett and Martha Moore, is on view at the Speer Library, Princeton Theological Seminary, through May 1.

The 20 paintings which comprise the show were done in the course of a 100-day tour which took the husband and wife team from Dan to Beersheba and depict Old and New Testament sites as they are presently in use. Working at times under the protective guard of a squad of Israeli soldiers, the artists have brought back with them a collection which displays a free-flowing, impressionist technique characterized by a lavish use of brilliant colors sharply contrasted to dark hues and areas of strong light and shadow.

Martha Moore's work has brought her 62 art awards, including three Gold Medals of Honor and the coveted Isaac Maynard Portrait Award presented by the National Academy of Design. She is listed in four editions of Who's Who and her art history is included in the permanent archives of the New York City Public Library.

Lou Burnett has received 44 awards, including the Grand Art Award presented at the Atlantic City Art Festival. His work is included in the permanent collection of Atlantic City, the Norfolk Art Museum and many private collections in the United States and Europe.

Low Attendance at Concerts Cause for Concern

When four distinguished musicians play to a 75% capacity audience at a Series II McCarter Theatre concert, especially on a beautiful warm April evening, one must give pause to reevaluate what may be happening to the "serious music" scene in America. When this writer first arrived in Princeton in 1959, he was told that one's best opportunity for obtaining a Series I or II concert was to read the obituary column in one of the Princeton weeklies.

At that time there were six concerts a season for each series, plus the regular programs of chamber music at 10 McCosh Hall, and the three Princeton Symphony Orchestra concerts each year. Every ticket was sold for the major concerts series.

This year there have been only four concerts in each series; (Next year, the same), no Princeton Chamber Orchestra, five chamber concerts at 10 McCosh Hall and the "Music at McCarter" Series which was designed specifically for students' budgets, but which offer top-rated artists of international fame. Perhaps the "Music at McCarter" series has severely cut into the attendance at the former Series I and II programs, but this reviewer feels it has more to do with the present cultural climate in the United States.

The four musicians featured on Monday night's chamber concert, (the final program for this series II season) were Leon Kirchner, pianist; Eudice Shapiro, violinist; Michael Tree, violist; and Leslie Parnas, violoncellist. The program was basically centered around Leon Kirchner who assumed the dual role of pianist and composer.

The concert opened with the Piano Quartet in Eb Major, K. 493 by Mozart, continued with two works by Kirchner, the "Sonata Concertante" for Violin and Piano (1952) and the "Trio for Violin, 'Cello and Piano," (1954) and concluded with the Mozart "Piano Quartet in G Minor," K. 478.

Of course the program may have been largely the reason for the poor attendance (with no offense to Mr. Kirchner's music intended). The Mozart was performed last fall at a Marlboro concert in 10 McCosh, while the Sonata-Concertante by Kirchner was heard last season. Thugh the two piano quartets by Mozart differ in subtle ways, their inclusion on the same program sandwiching two very similar works by Kirchner from that composer's early period also may have kept people away.

Performances Uneven. What of the performances themselves? Kirchner is a much better performer in his own music, as he demonstrated clearly throughout the evening, but in the Mozart, a most difficult piano part (as nakedly pure yet devilish to execute cleanly), Mr. Kirchner played cautiously a bit sloppily on the runs and with less tone quality than in his own pieces.

His general feeling for the music, very romantic, rather than classical in spirit displayed a musician who has ideas of his own about the interpretation of Mozart. Since I have heard three performances of this work this season, I would have to say that I recall with most pleasure that of Lois Shaffer's interpretation in Trenton last month.

As for the string performances in the Mozart, that was another story entirely. Eudice Shapiro, Michael Tree and Leslie Parnas are masters of the chamber music medium as well as brilliant executants as soloists in their own right. From where this reviewer was seated then, the string sonorities blended most marvelously, producing a strong richness and fullness of tone.

Miss Shapiro's reading of Kirchner's 1952 Sonata was particular, powerful and vibrant. The work is beautifully structured, very romantic and quite moving in places, but somehow, this piece is not as convincting as the composer's 2nd and 3rd String Quartets in the overall feeling it produces. A personal opinion of course, but despite repeated hearings of this piece I find it occasionally wanting for some sort of harmonic lightness.

Stark and Romantic. The Trio is cast in a similar mold, stark, highly romantic, brilliantly written (the man is a superb craftsman!), filled with tasteful idiomatic treatments for the instruments, and generally effectively shaped as a strong piece of music. In fact, if this writer seems a bit ambivalent about Kirchner's two operas rendered Monday evening, he is.

The music is so well written and in many places quite inspired, one has to admire the composer's talent with all the respect due him, but at the same time, this writer was not completely moved as he is to a great work, and so perhaps his comments should best rest until more performances are offered him of Kirchner's chamber works. These works, one must remember, were composed when performances of Schonberg, Bartok, Hindemith, and the neo-classical Stravinsky were considered the avant-garde.

One wonders why Kirchner's early works keep popping up on one program after another and is tempted to wonder about his more recent compositions. The Third String Quartet received a Pulitzer prize two years ago and deservedly so.

The idea of a contemporary composer of stature sharing an evening of his music with us is an excellent one and should be encouraged as an annual event in Princeton.

rider." Parallel incentives are lacking for the girls.

In fact, in Lippincott's Basic Reading Program Book D, Page 30, a girl convinces a boy: "You need reading and writing and numbers for almost everything. A salesman must be able to read his orders. He must add up his bills." She mentions mechanics and painters with similar needs. "Her own future needs are not considered," Mrs. Hagen comments, adding,

"In the Ginn Basic Readers, female achievement is shown as freakish and exceptional, thus in Book Five, 'From the very beginning Amelia Earhart was different from other little girls.' Also: 'Except for one thing Maria Mitchell seemed like any other young girl on Nantucket Island.' The point is made in the story that Maria Mitchell had to put the kitchen in order first before she could study the stars . . ."

A Look Ahead. The children are given glimpses of the adult world which they will one day enter. In D. C. Heath's primer series Book Two, men characters include Fathers, a pet store owner, a postman, firemen, policemen, zoo keepers, ice cream men, a clown, a railway conductor and a sheep farmer. Women include mothers, ladies next door and grandmother.

In "Vistas," Scott Foresman's Book Five, the minor male characters include scientists, naval commanders, forest rangers, a king, a gaucho, a pilot, a school principal, a railroad inspector and various fathers. There are no female minor characters, although one story involves two silly girls who hold a progressive luncheon, and there is a biography of a woman doctor at the frontier, and an eight section biography of Helen Keller. In Harper and Row's sixth grade reader there are no girl centered stories at all.

"What happens to the capable girl?" Mrs. Bartl demands. "Through stories like these, she either is squelched into her stereotyped 'role' of wife and mother, or teacher, or else she overcomes it and she's an outcast!

"My babysitter, for instance, says she is going to be a dental technician. I asked her why not study to be a dentist? She is very bright and capable. She told me she had wanted to at first, but 'my mother won't put me through dental school.' I think she should have the opportunity.

"We want the textbooks to reflect choice. There are many things that a mother does in a day — besides bake cookies. There are many things that women do. To do something well, you have to want to do it, and there is nothing there for little girls to want to read. There's no reality."

Music In Princeton

PENNYWHISTLERS HERE For Saturday Concert. The Pennywhistlers will appear in concert on Saturday, at 8:30 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium, sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

One of the most exciting and unusual folk music groups around, The Pennywhistlers are a group of six young American women who sing primarily the songs from the cultures of their heritages in Eastern Europe.

The concert is the fifth in a series of folk music events and the second major concert presentation of the Princeton Folk Music Society during 1970-71.

Contemporary singer Tony Hughes closes the season for the society with an informal concert on May 14 at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.

Tickets for The Pennywhistlers are on sale at the Princeton University Store, Male's Book Store, and the Princeton Music Center. For reservations and other information, contact Art Meisel, 8 Ziff Lane, Princeton Junction, at 799-1052.

WATTS TO PLAY Program Announced. Music by Brahms, Schubert, Ravel and Chopin will be played by Andre Watts when the young pianist returns to Princeton in the Music at McCarter series.

He will play on Tuesday, May 11, at 8:30 p.m. Remaining single tickets are on sale at the McCarter box office.

Mr. Watts will open his program with the Brahms Rhapsody Opus 119 No. 4, followed by Schubert's Sonata Opus 78 in G Major. Two works by Ravel will follow. "Oiseaux tristes" and "Alborada del gracioso." The program will conclude with the Chopin Sonata in B flat minor, the sonata with the well known "Funeral March" movement.

GLEE CLUB TO SING In Houseparties Concert. The Princeton University Glee Club will present its annual House parties Concert on Friday, April 30, at 8 in Alexander Hall on the University campus.

The highlight of the evening will be a medley of George Gershwin songs selected from his musical comedies, with a special medley from his opera, "Porgy and Bess."

Also included in the program are "Gilbert and Sullivan's "Entrance and March of the Peers" from "Iolanthe," Beethoven's "Prisoner's" Chorus from "Fidelio"; two Czechoslovakian songs by Antonin Dvorak; Gustav Holst's "I love my love," Thomas Weelkes, madrigal, "The Nightingale"; a South American song, "Marinera" by Carlos Malaga, and "Princetonia," a medley of relatively unknown Princeton songs.

Tickets are on sale at the Princeton University Store and immediately preceeding the concert at Alexander Hall. Prices are $2.50, reserved section, and $1.75, general admission ($1.00 for students.)

TO SING "THE CREATION" Complete Version Scheduled. The Princeton University Glee Club and the Sarah Lawrence College Chorus will present, complete, Joseph Haydn's "Die Schopfung", "The Creation" on Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall on the Princeton University campus. This is the first time in many years that "The Creation" has been performed uncut in the Princeton area.

Joan Margules '74 will sing the role of Gabriel. In addition to being a member of the Glee Club, she also belongs to the New Jersey State Opera.

William McGrath will sing the role of Uriel. He is a well known American tenor, having performed for many years under the baton of Arturo Toscanini.

John Bogart '72 will perform the roles of Raphael and Adam. As a boy soprano John was a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He has sung in numerous concerts in New York with the New York Pro Musica and with the New York Philharmonic, including a performance of Leonard Bernstein's Chichester Psalms.

Jean Thomas, a Princeton resident, will sing the role of Eva. In addition to appearing with the Princeton Opera Company in several roles she has given a full recital at Wordsworth Center.

Tickets for this performance are on sale at the Princeton University Store and immediately preceeding the concert at Alexander Hall. Prices are $2.50, reserved section, and $1.75 with student discounts available.

CLUB News

The Richmondtown restoration on Staten Island will be visited by the Princeton Chapter D.A.R. and the Historical Society of Princeton on Thursday, April 29, as their annual pilgrimage to an historic spot. The bus leaves the Princeton Shopping Center near the Acme at 8:30 a.m., and plans call for luncheon at the Tavern on the Green. Guests are welcome.

Saint Paul's School PTA will meet Monday with conferences with teachers from 7 to 8:15 in the classrooms and the business meeting following in the auditorium. The speaker will be the Rev. Walter E. Nolan, Mercer County Vocation Director. The PTA will sponsor a parish dance Saturday, May 8, at the Kingston firehouse 9 until 2. A buffet will be included. All parishioners and their friends are invited. Tickets at $10 a couple may be obtained from the school office or by calling 921-9444.

The Princeton Chapter of Hadassah has announced plans for an Ima Luncheon in honor of Miss Alice Braveman, in recognition of her long years of service to Hadassah and the community. Miss Braveman was a charter member of Junior Hadassah, and, in 1948, when a Hadassah chapter was established here in Princeton, became one of the first members. The luncheon has been scheduled for May 18 at the Princeton Jewish Center. In addition to the tribute to Miss Braveman, the affair will raise funds for Youth Aliyah which provides homes, education and orientation for youth in Israel. Reservations and additional information from Mrs. Seymour Bogdonoff, 921-6043.

West Windsor Lions Club will hold its annual door-to-door broom sale throughout West Windsor Township on Saturday, May 1. Proceeds of the sale are used to finance the club's various service activities: provision of crutches, wheelchairs, for township residents; sponsorship of Boy and Girl Scout units; aid to the blind; annual Easter Egg Hunt, and summer day camp for township children.

Wyman Club: Final general meeting at 8 p.m., Tuesday, in the Engineering Quad Lounge. The speaker will be Susan Edwards, a member of the Area Advisory Committee for Migrant and Seasonal Workers. She is also one of the founders of the Cranbury Bargain Basement Store. Her topic will be the Plight of the Migrant Workers in New Jersey. New officers for 1971-72 will be introduced and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Flower Sale Scheduled

The Rocky Hill Flower Sale will be held at the Community Center Thursday, May 6, through Sunday, Mothers Day. Mrs. Larry Settle, chairman, has announced the sale will again feature hanging baskets of fuchsia and geraniums, as well as vegetable plants and herbs. Also for sale will be a wide variety of annuals, perennials, shrubs, and ground covers.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to support the Rocky Hill Library and other projects of the group. Hours will be 11-5, Thursday; 10-5, Friday and Saturday; 1-5, Sunday.

Ladies Auxiliary of First Aid and Rescue Squad: 8 p.m., Monday. The Rev. William Kight will be the guest speaker.

The Riverside PTO is planning a Bicycle Road-eo on Thursday and Friday during school hours. Sponsored by the State Division of Motor Vehicles, this accident-preventive program will be held in conjunction with members of the Princeton Township police force. Children will be given a brief talk on bicycle safety and participate in tests of various bicycle skills. Children with bicycles should ride them both days to school. The PTO Safety Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Edward McEwen.

The final "Littlebrook Coffee" of the season with Lloyd L. Taylor, Littlebrook principal, will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Skillman, 98 Magnolia Lane, with the Littlebrook PTO as sponsor. Residents of Clover Lane, Abernathy Drive, Littlebrook Road, Broadripple, Overbrook, Rollingmead, Deerpath and Magnolia are especially invited, but all Littlebrook parents are welcome.

The Princeton Chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. The speaker will be Fred Bauer of Princeton, author, editor, reporter and broadcaster. His topic, "Are You Fun to Be With?", is drawn from his observation of people from all walks of life all over the world. Members of other chapters of PWP are welcome, as well as non-members who are single parents by reason of death, divorce or separation.

There IS a difference in Pools!
And that difference is quality

. . . whether Concrete or Aluminum. Here are a few examples:

☐ LABOR SAVING AUTOMATIC FEATURES
All automatic pools are not automatic. Ours is. ACPS —Sylvan's Automatic Cleaning and Purifying system would rather do it itself. Even while you're in the pool swimming. ACPS is available in both Sylvan's UNIPOUR® Concrete, and All-Aluminum pools.

☐ TOUGH, NO MAINTENANCE FINISH
Or, in a word . . . PERMALON. Unlike marbledust plaster, PERMALON is resistant to staining and algae and since no annual refurbishing is necessary it puts you dollars ahead, season after season. Ask us to demonstrate this finish to you . . . and you'll insist on miracle PERMALON for lowest maintenance cost.

☐ RUGGED "COLD-CLIMATE" SPECIFICATIONS
Both Sylvan pools are ruggedly "over"-engineered because northern winters are notoriously tough on pools. Our UNIPOUR® pool is made of the highest strength concrete (4000psi), and the husklest steel rods (½"). Our walls, floors and frost beams are the industry's thickest. Our All-Aluminum pool is constructed of extra heavy-duty extrusions, and a .025 vinyl liner that out-muscles the average liner by 20%. And both pools are covered by our superior guarantee.

☐ ASSURED CUSTOMER SATISFACTION *(IN WRITING)
Twenty-five years of leadership in pool design and construction has made Sylvan the most recommended pool builder by architects and engineers. When you swim with Sylvan, you can be confident of years of worry-free pool ownership and lasting value. We guarantee it. In both our pools. In writing.

All Sylvan Pools meet or exceed the minimum standards of the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Quality makes the difference!

LEAGUE RACE CONTINUES

Tiger Nine Goes on Road. A single game Friday against Penn at Philadelphia and a doubleheader Saturday with Navy at Annapolis are now the immediate targets of Princeton's baseball team in its bid for the Eastern League title. The Tigers defeated these opponents a year ago when they played at Clarke Field, but will find Navy's good pitching particularly tough to handle if their current hitting slump continues.

A little after 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, Princeton was the only unbeaten team in the league, but half an hour later, Cornell had hung a 2-0 shutout on the Orange and Black to bring the high-flying Tigers back to earth.

Other Sports on Page 18

The defeat was their first after 13 straight victories, longest in the modern era of baseball here.

The setback came after Coach Eddie Donovan's team had itself administered back-to-back shutouts to Army (1-0) on Friday and Cornell (4-0) in the first game of the doubleheader. While a good team would rather lose by being blanked than with the knowledge that it booted the game away through its own mistakes, there is some cause for concern in that the winning pitcher was third on the Ithacans' depth chart.

Bob Nelson, a southpaw with good control and a change of pace but just an ordinary curve and no fast ball whatsoever, threw a two-hitter at the Tigers, who have four .300 hitters back from last spring. For seven innings (the full length of these abbrieviated twin bills) they played dead, never putting a man on second base.

Sophomore John Kinne was the victim of Nelson's superior pitching, yielding a first inning run on two singles sandwiched around a stolen base. An insurance run was given up by Bill Coppedge after the visitors filled the bases with none out in the top of the final round.

Senior Jack Hittson, now 4-0, was the victor in the first game, retiring the last eight in a row. He fanned five, walked only one and pitched particularly well on the two occasions when the Ithacans threatened.

SECOND RUN IN SECOND INNING: A single by catcher Laird Hayes drove in two Princeton runs against Cornell Saturday in the second inning. Captain Ray Huard sliding across the plate from second base a few feet ahead of the throw from left field. Tigers went on to win 4-0, but dropped second game, 2-0, for their first league defeat. (Chris Lutz Photo)

Hayes Drives in Four. All of the Princeton runs crossed the plate on the bat of Laird Hayes, the senior who shares the catching duties with junior Bill Binder. The first pair were recorded in the second, when Hayes singled sharply to left after Hank Bjorklund had walked and Captain Ray Huard doubled off the left field fence.

Huard was aboard again in the fourth when the Tiger catcher hit a solid blow to right center. The center fielder tried to cut it off but missed, the ball rolling all the way to the 410-foot mark and Hayes heading the relay easily for an inside the park homer.

Blevins Blanks Army. Sophomore Randy Blevins, who whitewashed Colgate, 9-0, earlier this year, pitched a strong nine innings against Army Friday, winning on an unearned run in the sixth. With Bjorklund on third as the result of a fielding error and a single by Binder, Huard lofted a fly to short left. Bjorklund held following the catch, but the throw to the infield bounced off the shortstop's ankle and Bjorklund raced home before a play could be made at the plate.

In the top of the ninth, Army put the first two hitters on first and second with sharp singles, and Blevins looked to be in trouble. However, the next batter hit a soft liner to Huard, who doubled the runner off second, unassisted.

Blevins then fanned the last man on three swinging strikes. He allowed seven hits and got errorless support, some of it fairly spectacular as the Tigers continue to play topflight defensive ball.

No team has scored more than three runs off them in their last nine games, and seven of the 14 victories they have recorded have been by one run. If they begin to hit, they will be at least the equal of any team in the league.

Villanova was on the schedule Wednesday, with the game to be played on the Wildcats' Mainline diamond. Fordham will be at Clarke Field Tuesday at 3:30.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

REGATTA HERE SATURDAY

Harvard Crew Favored. The final heavyweight regatta of the short season will be held Saturday on Lake Carnegie when crews from Harvard, M.I.T. and Princeton compete for the Compton Cup.

The Tigers have not won this trophy since 1957 and Harvard, which annually dominates the race, is expected to continue its mastery over its two rivals, M.I.T. interrupted Harvard's string of successes in 1962 but it has been 14 long years since the Tigers last won this event.

The three varsities will leave the stake boats at 4:30. Freshmen crews will row at 3:50, with the jayvee race set for 4:10. All distances will be 2,000 meters.

The Tigers rowed in the Childs Cup regatta last Saturday on the Harlem River, losing all three races to Penn but finishing ahead of Columbia. The Quakers, defending champions in the event, won the varsity race by a shade under a length, leading all the way.

The winning time was 6:27, with the Tigers clocked at 6:30. Columbia was more than five lengths back.

LACROSSE GAME HERE. Tigers Face Dartmouth. The two teams most likely to finish in the cellar of the Ivy Lacrosse League will do battle Saturday on Finney Field when Princeton faces Dartmouth. Game time is 2 p.m.

The Indians have yet to win a league game in two starts, and Princeton lost its first last week to Brown, 10-5. The Tigers, winless in six games this season, led briefly in the first half but action after the intermission was all in favor of the visitors.

LOSING STREAK ENDS

PHS Tops Ewing, 7-6. There was joy in Princeton High School last week.

The Princeton High School baseball team, which hadn't won a game since May 22, 1969, threw off the shackles of defeat by scoring five runs in the last inning Thursday to stun the top team in Mercer County, Ewing High School. The final score was 7 to 6.

Now that the Little Tigers have proved they can beat the best they should view the rest of the schedule with fresh optimism. Before the season began, coach Harry Zoll had called the Ewing game the key game. "If we're going to beat anyone, they're the team to beat," he said.

Coming up for the Blue and White is a game here Thursday afternoon against Trenton at 3:45 — provided the refurbishing of the PHS diamond is completed by then — and a rematch with Ewing on Tuesday. The latter will be played at Ewing.

Ewing Takes 6-0 Lead. When Ewing scored in each of the first three innings off PHS ace Don Crosby to take a 6-0 lead, few would have given PHS much of a chance. Even after the fourth, when PHS scored three runs on an error, Greg Kline's single, a balk and a two-run double by Dave Mansue (Mansue later stole home for the third run), the feelong on the PHS bench was: well, it's better to get beaten 6-3 than 6-0.

However, Lance Marshall who pitched the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, shut the door hard on Ewing, giving up only one hit and one walk. Then, in the bottom of the seventh PHS exploded. (PHS was considered the home team, even though the game was played at Ewing, because those field renovations forced the game to be moved.)

With two on, Mansue homered to tie the score at 6-6. His shot carried over the head of leftfielder Fritz Sickles for the team's first four-bagger of the season and Mansue's first homer.

Finally, it came down to Tom Gopsill, up for the second time in the inning, with two down and one on. Smashing a drive to left which rolled all the way to the corner, he easily broke up the game by scoring the runner ahead of him. The long victory drought was over.

Mansue Batting .444. Mansue drove in five of the victors' runs with his two hits. He is second in batting on the team, getting four hits in nine at bats for a .444 average. Crosby had one of Princeton's eight hits to raise his average to .571 — high for the team.

George Boccanfuso also rapped two hits in four at bats for the victors, while Marshall, Kline, Gopsill and Crosby all had one. Ewing had nine hits, in losing its second in eight games. It has one tie.

PHS TRACK VICTOR

Over St. Anthony's. PHS captured eight first places outright and tied for two more Monday to dominate its dual meet here with St. Anthony's. PHS won, 75-51.

Next Larry Ivan's squad will travel to Franklin Tuesday for its fifth dual meet of the season. It is presently 1-2 and was scheduled to meet New Brunswick here this Wednesday.

High scorer in the St. Anthony's meet was Larry Parker. He won the 220 in 22.6, the javelin with a toss of 195-4½ for his best of the season, and placed second in the shot behind teammate Louis Drury. Drury's winning toss was 44-4.

Smith Wins Two-Mile. In other races, Pete Ambrus captured the 440, Bill Evers the 880 and Phil White tied the visitors' Jack Mahon for first in the 100. And when Roland Smith captured the two-mile, it marked the first time PHS had won the event in three years.

Ron Rhodes continued to excell in the broad jump. His fourth and final jump of 20-1¼ was his best. Daryl Boone of PHS, who tied teammate Rich Jackson for first in the high jump (5-6), also placed third in the broad jump.

Drury and Tom Greene finished second and third in the discus. Other seconds: Jim Willard in the mile, Martin Willard in the 880 and Dave Gendron in the 440.

The meet was St. Anthony's first of the season.

Ewing Wins, 85-41. Earlier in the week, PHS was stopped, 85-41, by Ewing, defending Mercer County champion.

Steve Woodside won the pole vault with a 10-6 effort (he finished third against St. Anthony's) and Lionel Hammond captured the long jump with a mark of 18-3¼. Hammond also finished second in the 440 and third in the low hurdles. White was clocked in 10.4 in the 100 for second place.

Hard luck confronted the Little Tigers' top point getters: Parker and Bolster. Parker placed second in the 220 and looked as if he would win the javelin with a toss of 189-9. But on his last throw, Ewing's Ken White hurled the spear 196 feet to edge Parker, just as he had done on his last throw the year before. "Almost to the exact inch" commented Ivan. "They were going at it tooth and nail."

Bolster was shaded by Ron Angelini in the mile although both were clocked in the identical time of 4:44.2. Angelini passed Bolster on the inside right at the wire.

Never Saw Him. "I never saw him," said Bolster later. "Everybody was screaming and I looked to my right and saw Roland (Smith). I assumed he was second. Then all of a sodden this guy came up on my left.

"I thought it was a tie but they said he leaned in front of me. It was a tough one to lose."

Evers took second in the 880 with 2:08, chopping three seconds off his previous time, and Drury and Greene finished second in the shot and discus. Drury's best heave was 48-4. Parker would have won the event with a toss of 49 feet but he fouled on all his attempts.

Terry Weiner, up from the jayvees, ran the 220 in 25 flat only 1/10 of a second behind the time of Don Owens. "That was a nice surprise," said Ivan.

Ewing swept the two mile and high jump.

PINGRY, PEDDIE NEXT

For PHS Stickmen. The Princeton High School lacrosse team will play back-to-back contests this week with Pingry and Peddie — still looking for its first win of the season.

The Pingry match will be held at Community Park Friday with a 3:30 starting time. Saturday's game with Peddie will be played in Hightstown starting at 1:30.

In their only action last week, the Little Tigers saw two leads disappear as Lawrenceville School came from behind twice to win, 5-3. It was the Larries' first game; for PHS, its fourth setback in four tries.

"With the little depth we have, the offense is holding up quite well but our defense was terrible," commented Coach Marvin Trotman. "The inexperience on defense is going to hurt us," he added.

Co-captain Phil Nollner scored a pair of goals and Joe McGuinn had one to account for the Little Tiger scoring. Goalie Nick Robinson, sidelined since the second game, tried to come back, Trotman said, but had to leave the game early. Larry Ritchie and Nollner also suffered minor leg injuries during the contest — something the thin PHS squad can ill afford.

PERKIOMEN NEXT FOE

For PDS Nine. With one league victory already in its pocket, the Princeton Day baseball team will play its third Penn-Jersey game at 3:15 Friday at home against Perkiomen. A second Penn-Jersey contest against Pennington Prep was scheduled for this Wednesday afternoon at PDS.

Neither team is as strong as it was last year and the Blue and White should be able to run its league mark to 3-0 with some steady ball playing. The real tests will come next when it meets Hun on Wednesday and Germantown Friends on Friday.

Hun is favored to win the league's boarding school division and Germantown, which beat PDS in a couple of one run encounters last year for the crown, is favored to repeat on the Day side. The Panthers will be pointing toward the Germantown game, figuring they will have another shot at Hun in the playoffs, if they capture the title.

Last week, PDS split a pair of games, winning the one that counted most, against Bryn Athyn, 5-2, after losing 10-3 to Peddie on Wednesday.

Bryn Athyn's fireballing pitcher Jim Redmile fanned the first seven Panthers he faced, the last six, and two more, but in between PDS put together seven hits for its runs. Freshman Sam Finnell, got his first of two hits, a triple in the third inning and scored on a sacrifice fly by Dave Secket to give PDS its first run and tie the contest at 1-1. Bryn Athyn had tallied in the first.

In the fourth, the Panthers rallied for four runs and the ball game. Pinch hitter Terry Booth singled and Carl Rosenburg walked. After two outs and a passed ball, Finell delivered a two-run single. Seckle doubled him home and later came around with the final run on a double by winning pitcher Dave Claghorn.

Claghorn appeared closer to mid-season form in picking up his first win of the spring. He struck out seven, walked four, but only one of Bryn Athyn's runs was earned.

Against Peddie, the Blue and White was no worse than 2-1 down going into the fifth inning, but the winners came up with five there and three more in the sixth. PDS was guilty of four wild pitches and five passed balls.

GEORGE BEATEN TWICE

By PDS Lacrosse Team. The surest way to a better season is to open with back-to-back triumphs over a team that whipped you last year. The Princeton Day lacrosse team is headed for a better season this year, perhaps its best ever in varsity competition, and it began by demolishing George School twice last week. George had won, 5-1, in 1970.

The first time last Wednesday, the Panthers blanked George, 4-0, led by Tim Smith who had a hat trick. Friday, Smith again had a hat trick, as PDS upped its winning margin to 8-1. The Blue and White was scheduled against the Peddie varsity "B" team this Wednesday and Rutgers Prep next Wednesday.

George School had lost heavily through graduation, and coach Clint Wilkins admitted that his defense wasn't tested much in the two contests. When they did have a chance Blue and White defensemen, Tom Worthington, John Kalpin, Paul Funk and Andy Tomlinson were equal to their task.

In the first game against George, PDS controlled the ball most of the game, but took its shots sparingly. All Smith's goals came with a man up. Art Mittnacht scored the last Panther goal in the fourth period.

In the return match, George scored just 26 seconds into the first period, but never again. Midfielder Sam Rodgers tied it up, and Smith's first goal, before the first period had ended, put PDS ahead to stay. Employing the same careful, controlled attack, PDS added a pair in the second period, as Middy John Moore and Attack Dave Barnett netted goals.

After a scoreless third period, PDS poured in four more in the final stanza, two more by Smith and tallies by John Gordon and Cam Ferrante.

PDS WINS SECOND

In Tennis. Dropping a set for the first time in the young season, the Princeton Day School tennis team romped to a 5-0 victory over Solebury School Friday. Its record is now 2-0, with a 5-0 victory over Peddie Wednesday.

Steve Bash, playing number one singles, lost his first set, then tonk two in a row 6-1, 6-0, for the win. Mitch Sussman at number two and Jerem Gordon at number three singles won in straight sets, all shutouts.

Evan Bash and John Kraut blanked their opponents at first doubles, and Robbie Holt and Buzz Woodworth duplicated the performance at number two doubles.

The team was scheduled to play at Pennington Prep Wednesday.

YMCA Movie Saturday

The annual YMCA Midget Baseball benefit movie will be shown Saturday at 12:15 at the Princeton Playhouse.

Tickets for the film, "The Paper Lion," may be purchased at the Y office on Avalon Place or at the box office. It is recommended for all ages.

DUFTY NAMED CAPTAIN

Of Princeton Basketball Team. Al Dufty 6-6 forward, has been elected captain of Princeton University's 1971-72 varsity basketball team. Announcement of Dufty's election was made at the team dinner at which outgoing captain Bill Siekler received the B. Franklin Bunn Trophy, top basketball award honoring "play, sportsmanship and influence."

A graduate of Vestal (N.Y.) High School Dufty was a regular in both basketball and baseball as a Princeton freshman and earned varsity letters in basketball both as a sophomore and as a junior. Used largely in a reserve capacity two years ago, he averaged 4.4 points per game.

Last season, the 21-year-old cornerman saw considerably more playing time, raising his mark to 6.5. Dufty was a start

Be an ugly spot remover.

There are ugly, littered spots in just about every community in this country.

So many, that you'd almost think creating ugly spots had become a national habit.

Fortunately, habits can be broken.

If you and a lot of other people will be "picky," the ugly spot habit will be broken.

Just imagine how beautiful this country couldn't help being if all its ugly spots were removed.

Be picky.

FIRST TOURNAMENT HELD

At Springdale Golf Club. The 1971 season at Springdale Golf Club opened last week-end with a dinner Friday night at the Nassau Club and the annual Member-Member Tournament Saturday. Play was based on 85% of handicap and the best two balls of competing foursomes.

Finishing in first place were Jack Sweeney, Maurice Coffee, Don Bordlemay and Ted Tams. Their combined score for 18 holes was 133 nine under par.

In second place, with 139 were Bill Pearce, Ed Conlin, Elliot McVitty and Eugene Dix. Tied at 141 was a four some consisting of Ken Ostheim, Dean Chase, John Miller and Art Morgan, and another of Tom Evans, Ralph Mather, Franklin Dick and Don Schwarer.

Qualifying for the President's Cup tournament will be held Saturday, with the top 32 selected or a basis of 18 holes of medal play. First round matches are scheduled for Sunday.

SPINNERS ON TOP

In Bowling League. Spinners gained first place in the Princeton Women's Bowling League, climbing over two former leaders, Swift's Colonial Diner No. 2 and Hamilton Supply Company. Spinners has 62 points, the latter two, 60 each.

Spinners set the high team series of 1932, while Used Car Mart with the help of Flo Ivins (212) and Marilyn Silvester (199) fashioned the high team game of 674. Joyce Pasterb of Mix Ups rolled 186, Carol Osborn of Swift's Colonial Diner No. 1 rolled 179, and Jerine Meyer of Swift's No. 2, rolled 173.

HUN NINE 2-1

After First Week. Its first two games postponed because of wet grounds, the Hun School baseball team finally got to play last week, completing three games in four days. It won its first two — both Pennsylvania Interscholastic Baseball League contests — and lost, 9-5, Saturday to Toms River High School.

Hun's major test in the league will come Friday at 3:15 when it plays host to Germantown Friends. The Quakers are the defending league champions. Wednesday afternoon, Hun will entertain neighborhood rival Princeton Day School in a 3 p.m. contest.

It was scheduled to be at the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf this Wednesday.

Against Toms River Saturday, Hun mustered only five hits, including a two-run homer by Dennis Skrajewski, who drove in three of Hun's five runs. "We hit the ball well but right at them," commented coach Dave Leete.

Alan Chalifoux made his first start on the mound for the losers. The victim of poor control, he gave way after two innings to Paul Creamer, up from the jayvee squad. "He did a good job," said Leete.

A day earlier against George School here in the cold and wind, Hun used three pitchers in outlasting the Cougars, 7-4. Skrajewski started for Hun, got into difficulties early and left in favor of Chuck Sista who came on with the bases loaded. Sista pitched out of the jam without giving up a run.

Later, when George threatened, Rick Ziegler, the team's number one hurler, finished up. Chalifoux doubled for the victors.

In its opener last week, Hun combined the two-hit pitching of Ziegler and a lot of walks off Pennington pitchers to blast the Red Raiders, 10-1.

HOPFIELD, PORTER WIN

In Carnegie Lake Races. In the second week of sailing at Lake Carnegie this season, John Hopfield placed first in the Sunfish class and Paul Porter did the same among the Sloops.

Bob Holzman and Jack Kunz trailed Hopfield, while Bill Rogers was second in the Sloops. Strong winds limited the Penguins to a pair of races with Bill O'Donnell capturing first.

In all, 19 boats competed. Five skippers had an early swim when their boats capsized.

er in the Tigers' final six games during which time he accounted for 68 points, contributed strong rebounding and sturdy defensive play.

Sickler, hailed by varsity Coach Pete Carril as "the hardest-working player I've ever coached — just an amazing boy," started in all but four games during his three-year career at Princeton. His long suit was defense and his unusual ability in this capacity played a large role in many Tiger victories the past three seasons. He played guard as a sophomore and forward the past two seasons where he acquitted himself well despite standing only 6-3.

A consistent performer, Sickler averaged 6.3 points per game as a sophomore, 11.0 as a junior and 11.2 as a senior. His final varsity game — an 87-86 triumph over Cornell — saw him set personal highs for points (26) and rebounds (14).

ARMY TEAM WINS

In 100-Kilometer Bike Race. The U.S. Army cycling team on Sunday won the Century Road Club's second annual 100 kilometer time trial with a clocking of 2 hours, 27 minutes, 16 seconds.

Their time was six minutes, one second faster than the Century Road Club, their nearest competitor, but two minutes slower than the event record set last year. Five of the seven teams entered finished.

TRYOUTS MAY 1

For Babe Ruth Baseball. Tryouts for the West Windsor Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held at 10 Saturday, May 1, on the diamond at the Maurice Hawk School. In case of rain they will be held at 2 Sunday, May 2.

All boys 13 to 15 years old not yet assigned to a team must try out to be eligible. The only equipment needed is gloves.

Boys also must bring with them an original or a true copy of their birth certificates. Open only to West Windsor and Plainsboro boys, these will be the only tryouts held.

League action will start at 6:15 Thursday, June 3, and will continue until July 13.

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. ■ Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenacres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land . . . and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. ■ Isn't all this worth $50,000 or more?

that turns its handsome back on Bainbridge Street and faces a babbling brook, letting the rest of the world go by — yet is within walking distance of the University.

Centrally air-conditioned, there is a sunny living-dining room with cathedral ceilings supported by solid, massive beams — Thermopane glass to the rafters. A tall fireplace of old brick features a built-in rotisserie which can also be observed from the walnut-cabinetted kitchen. Three bedrooms, 2½ baths.

The lower floor contains a large U-shaped room for family fun and/or office for father. A 20-by-27 foot workshop beyond has unusually high ceiling and plenty of room for hobbies, laundry and such.

The brook is guaranteed to babble 365 days a year.

SIMPLY BEAUTIFUL! . . . You'll love this fine, custom-built home — its soft brick facade, the long low lines, the spacious, classicly proportional rooms. Located on a quiet street just off Mercer Road and embellished with mature shrubs and trees, the house has a charming foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, a wonderful kitchen with ample breakfast space, 2 big bedrooms and 2 baths, panelled family room with wet bar and powder room. Central air-conditioning. New Carpeting. Freshly painted. 2-car attached garage. Huge basement. Professionally decorated only last year by Princeton's outstanding interior decorator, this superb home is offered with most of its furnishings (save for a few paintings and antiques) and decorations. $125,000

LIVE IN TOWN . . . here is a charming small home with 2 bedrooms and 2 baths directly across from the Shopping Center. Ideal for people who don't drive — both N.Y. Express and Trenton buses go past the front door. 40 shops only a short walk away! The lot is small and easy to maintain. Could also be a doctor's or dentist's office. $32,000

CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING . . . only 3 years old, this is a great one-story home in Lawrence Twp. Living-dining room, large kitchen with built-in oven, dishwasher, refrigerator, panelled family room, 3 bedrooms and 2 baths. Property completely fenced; beautiful garden with hundreds of bulbs. Many extras, all rugs, rotating TV antenna. $38,000

MUST BE SEEN! . . . This beautiful home in Riverside was originally built larger than its neighbors to suit its owners. And you will benefit from the extra space as well as from constant supervision as it was constructed. Centrally air-conditioned and in impeccable condition, the house has foyer, living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen with breakfast area, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, big closets. Downstairs: family room with new indoor-outdoor carpet, powder room and large basement. $61,500

PRINCETON . . . above street level, and screened by a stand of silver maples, this fine home was planned for family life. Carpeted foyer and staircase, large living room, panelled den, big dining room and kitchen. Family room has new outdoor-indoor carpet and acoustical tile ceiling, with powder room nearby. Upstairs: 4 big bedrooms, 2 baths, huge closets. Both attic fan and central air-conditioning. Big basement which the owners can assure you will be dry because they have installed special drains. Large, fenced flagstone terrace and a beautiful yard with flowering trees and hedges along both sides. $69,500

OLD COLONIAL . . . on 27 rolling acres west of Hopewell. The old colonial house, shaded by beautiful trees, has entrance hall, powder room, study, living room with fireplace, family-dining room with fireplace, charming kitchen with spacious eating area. Upstairs: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Central air-conditioning. Random-width old pine floors. Slate roof. 3 car garage with studio above. This property would be ideal for horses. Also, it could be subdivided for development at some future date. $100,000

50 ACRES . . . high and wooded on Sourland mountain, with access to two roads. Great potential for development. Comfortable house with 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. Only 15 minutes from Princeton. Owner offers excellent financing to qualified buyer. $175,000

OUTSTANDING . . . 50 acres corner Route 130 and Woodside Road. Zoned commercial or for garden apartments. 10 miles from Princeton.

TWO ACRES in the wooded Western Section of Princeton. City water & sewer, $30,000 . . . 15 to 50 ACRES only 8 miles from Princeton. Partly wooded. Wonderful place for horses. Two good pond sites. $1700 per acre . . . Farm or residential acreage in Skillman. 35 plus at $2,000 per acre.

Moving? . . . Inter-City Relocation Service can help.

Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide price range. Ample parking space for our clients.
